Castro Warns US Again

Begins a Move To Get Back War Criminals

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Fidel Castro has warned the United States against attempting to use "cannon diplomacy" to halt the executions of Batistas. At the same time he is starting a campaign of pressure against the United States to "return the war criminals."

These attitudes were outlined as revolutionary officials discounted reports that former dictator Fulgencio Batista had landed a counterattacking force, or was planning to do so, somewhere in Cuba.

Maj. Victor Bordon, acting commander at La Cabana, the fortress across the bay from Havana, told newsmen such an attack from Batista's refuge in the Dominican Republic was improbable.

Bordon said, however, that his chief at La Cabana, Maj. Ernesto Guevara, had departed for the central province of Las Villas because revolutionary units were somewhat disorganized. He declined to explain further.

It was announced Friday night that Maj. Eloy Gutierrez Menoyo, who commanded 4,000 to 5,000 men in spearhead fighting in Las Villas, had led his men back to the province from Havana for demobilization. There was speculation, however, that the move was a precaution against any Batista counterblow.

Castro, the revolutionary armed forces commander, who masterminded the New Year's Day overthrow of Batista's dictatorship, made his remarks about U.S. diplomacy in a speech to about 10,000 persons in front of the Presidential Palace Friday night.

He called for a rally here Wednesday representing labor unions, students, and civic and industrial groups.

He said this would be a mass meeting to support justice and "to demand that the United States return the war criminals"—Batista followers who have fled to the United States.

Castro estimated that no more than 450 Batistas would face revolutionary firing squads. The unofficial total of executions already stands at 205.

The executions brought protests in the United States.

In his speech Castro said that "if they (the United States) want good relations, let them begin by not menacing us. If they want good relations, the first thing they have to do is respect our sovereignty and never again speak of intervention."

Castro's Shortwave Radio, Rifle Stolen

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Somebody swiped Fidel Castro's rifle and his shortwave radio, one of his personal aides informed police Saturday. The rifle and radio were stolen from the Cuban rebel leader's parked car.

Another 'Hold the Line' Budget

Blair's Budget Avoids More Aid To Schools and Mental Health

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Some of the biggest things were left unsaid in Gov. James T. Blair's budget last week.

He presented a mass of figures to the Legislature that added up to around $1,137,000,000 to operate the state government for the next two years. It was a sizable increase over the $1,028,000,000 appropriated for the current fiscal year.

It included moderate increases in the big state welfare program, a modest start on a medical care program for the indigent and a good many salary increases. And it raised legislative eyebrows.

But it avoided any mention of two big spending programs this and future legislatures will be asked to cope with:

1. It allowed for full financing of the state's school foundation plan. But it ignored the recommendation of a special legislative commission that state aid to schools be increased by $26,000,000 a year through an earmarked half-cent increase in the sales tax.

2. It put off to some future date the big increases in the mental health program that have been predicted when Missouri's new Mental Health Commission gets plans in focus.

All of this adds up to another "hold the line" budget, Blair, like his immediate predecessors, has told the Legislature: "I'll go this far. If you want to go any further down the spending road, it's up to you."

So far, the legislators generally have applauded this approach. Responsive to the wishes of their constituents, they are no more in favor of a general tax increase than the governor is.

But the big push for more school money has not yet started. The technique of using the Parent-Teacher association as a powerful, grass roots lobbying force has not yet been brought into play.

Most legislators don't cringe very easily. They get pretty case hardened from all the demands on them. But most of them will cringe at the sight of an aroused P.T.A. committee. And if they're lawyers, most of them will roll over and play dead when the judges ask for a salary increase. Blair recommended substantially higher judicial pay.

The mental health program is admittedly being held in abeyance until the Mental Health Commission gets its new director on the scene and works out a program it can submit to the Legislature on a specific, "we'll fight this" basis.

The Legislature was forewarned on this point last year when it made temporary, one-year appropriations. Former Sen. Francis Smith of St. Joseph, chairman of the Mental Health Commission, told the Appropriations Committee the current figures were just enough to keep things going. But, he said, when the commission gets its long range program worked out and is able to come up with specific recommendations, it won't come before the assembly with any hold-the-line requests. By then it will be asking for many millions.

On the welfare front the House pretty well took care of that for the time being by shutting off amendments to raise benefits and sticking to the governor's middle of the road recommendations for increases.

But as for schools—that's a problem the Legislature still has to face. If the Legislature goes for a $26,000,000 increase in state aid, the governor's budget goes down the drain.

Anything can happen then.

33 Aboard TWA Plane

Pilot Brings Crippled Plane In Safely on Belly Landing

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A crippled Trans World Airlines plane skidded to safety on a foamy runway today to end a five-hour ordeal for 23 passengers and five crewmen.

The Constellation circled for hours. Its landing gear and braking systems were gone and the pilot was having trouble with one of the four engines.

"We were all laughing until moments before the landing—then everyone began to pray," said Mrs. Margaret O'Dowd of St. Louis, a passenger.

There was no panic. Crew members went unharmed about the business of making in-flight repairs.

"I think we were praying mostly for the pilot," said Mrs. O'Dowd.

Other passengers, who filed calmly from emergency exits after the belly landing, echoed her sentiments.

Capt. Norman E. Schaeffer of Kansas City needed only 2,000 feet of the 12,000-foot runway to bring the big plane to a gliding stop. "I've made a lot harder wheel landings," he remarked.

Schaeffer first discovered the trouble about 11 a. m. (CST) when he could get only one wheel down over St. Louis. Instead of attempting a landing there, the plane continued to Kansas City. TWA officials and Schaeffer then decided to bring the flight in at nearby Olathe Naval Air Station rather than Municipal Airport.

One wheel was down and locked, the other was retracted and the smaller nose wheel was halfway down. For a time it was feared Schaeffer might have to attempt a one-wheel landing—a maneuver far more dangerous than a belly landing.

While Schaeffer circled above Kansas City, he and other crewmen managed to retract the lone landing gear.

The disabled landing gear was plainly visible from the ground as the plane circled at 1,500 to 4,000 feet.

After it was retracted and elaborate plans made for a belly landing, Schaeffer discovered the braking system was useless and one of the craft's four engines started "running rough."

"It was a beautiful landing,"

Ike Informs Russia US Will Never Accept German Plan

Gives Notice At a Meeting With Mikoyan

Talks End With No Sign of Concession By Either Side

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower solemnly told the Soviet Union Saturday the United States will never accept Premier Nikita Khrushchev's plan to turn East Berlin over to the East German Reds May 27.

Eisenhower was reported to have given this notice during a 134-hour meeting with Soviet First Dep. Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan.

The White House conference, climaxing Mikoyan's two-week visit to this country, ended with no sign of concession by either side on Berlin, Germany or disarmament.

Despite this, informed officials predicted a Big Four foreign minister's conference will be held sometime this spring before the date Moscow has fixed for ending four-power Berlin rule.

The 63-year-old Mikoyan, relaxed and smiling, went immediately to the Soviet Embassy. Presumably, he will draft a report to the Kremlin on his round of talks.

His morning meeting with Eisenhower capped 11½ hours of talks with administration leaders, four of them directly with Secretary of State Dulles.

Mikoyan later canceled plans for a two-day Florida visit beginning Saturday. He now plans to leave by plane for Moscow Tuesday, three days earlier than previously scheduled.

Authorities familiar with Mikoyan's talks said that despite his relatively mild language, he reaffirmed the Soviet Union's Berlin plan while disclaiming any thought it should be considered a peace or war ultimatum.

No new proposals or counter-proposals were put forward in the confidential talks among Eisenhower, Dulles and Mikoyan.

Some authorities said they detected a hardening rather than a softening of the Soviet position on Germany in Mikoyan's words. Mikoyan spoke scathingly of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and of what he described as the belligerent attitude of the West German government, informants said.

Nevertheless, these sources said Mikoyan will return to Moscow with a far better realization of U. S. unity and determination to stand firm in Berlin.

Reverend Sims Resigns Here For St. Joe Pastorate

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—The Rev. Edward R. Sims of Sedalia will become rector of Christ Episcopal Church here next month. The Rev. Mr. Sims, rector of Calvary Episcopal Church in Sedalia, resigned that post Saturday afternoon to take the St. Joseph pastorate.

The Rev. Mr. Sims formerly served churches in Cass County, Mo., and Lee's Summit. He went to Sedalia from Harrisonville, Mo. in 1951. He is a native of Kansas City.

Rev. Sims was contacted Saturday when the Democrat-Capital first learned of his impending change, but he declined to confirm or deny it. Rev. Sims explained that any announcement of such importance should first be made by him to his congregation Sunday. He said he had not given any announcement to any news media, but did have a release prepared for Monday. He did not state its nature.

Epidemic

This is the season for sneezes and sore throats, and even the automobiles seem to be developing them. You can hear them cough and sputter these cold days.

Partly cloudy and warmer Sunday and Monday; highs Sunday in the mid-20s northeast to about 40 southwest.

The temperature Saturday was 6 at 7 a. m. and 18 at 1 p. m. The low Friday night was 6.

The temperature one year ago today, high 43, low 30; two years ago, high 46, low 13; and three years ago, high 27, low 20, with a trace of moisture.

A Monthly Report

Employment Security Pays Double Amount Contributed

Employers of non-agricultural workers in the eight-county trade area surrounding Sedalia paid more than $4-million in contributions toward the security of their employees in November, 1958, according to the latest report from the Missouri Division of Employment Security.

The report, issued in the form of the January bulletin of the division, further shows that unemployed workers in this area received more than twice that amount in unemployment benefits, during the same period. This does not include agricultural workers and those not covered by employment security.

In Benton, Cooper, Henry, Johnson, Montague, Pettis and Saline

	Weeks Compensated	Benefits Received
Benton	1,620	40,522
Cooper	1,640	34,997

Morgan	4,390	99,771
Pettis	12,389	288,634
Saline	12,449	256,010

counties, employers paid in $542,456. Unemployed workers received $1,066,878 for 47,337 weeks compensated, or an average weekly check of $22.53, the report shows. The report indicates that only 2.13 per cent of the total unemployment compensation paid in Missouri was paid in these eight counties.

The greatest amount of unemployment compensation was paid out in the heavy industrial areas. The city of St. Louis received 30.79 per cent of the total, while St. Louis County received 11.27 per cent. Unemployment in Kansas City accounted for 15.69 per cent. Jackson County accounted for 3.36 per cent. The tabulation by county is as follows:

Security Is So Tight, Speech Is Turned Away

WASHINGTON (AP)—The security screen at the White House was so tight for a while Saturday that even a presidential message couldn't get through.

The occasion for the reinforced guard was the visit of Soviet Dep. Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan for a conference with President Eisenhower.

While they were meeting a truck from the Government Printing Office arrived with printed advance copies of the President's economic message which will be delivered to Congress Tuesday.

The driver lacked the necessary credentials for admittance so was turned away by guards.

For a while, the driver and his truck later couldn't be located. But eventually he was found and the documents were delivered.

Baby Boy Freezes To Death in His Bed

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—A 6-month-old boy froze to death in his bed here Saturday.

A medical examiner said Willie James Taft kicked the cover off his bed in the unheated rear bedroom of his home and died of exposure. The temperature was around 12 degrees.

The child's mother left him in bed when she went to work. A neighbor checked on the child at 7 and 9 a. m., but did not pick him up, officers said.

Farmer Dies as His Tractor Overturns

CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP)—Lawrence Eldon Leggett, 29, a farmer near Jasper, Mo., was killed by a tractor that overturned on him Saturday about 15 miles northwest of Carthage.

The tractor, pulling a trailer loaded with corn, slipped off a bank along a rural road.

MPSC Member Dies

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Charles L. Henson, a member of the Missouri Public Service Commission for a dozen years, collapsed and died in a Jefferson City barber shop Saturday. He was 82.

Gov. James T. Blair re-appointed Henson last year and described him as one of the hardest working members of the commission that regulates public utilities in the state.

Montague Will Stand Trial For Murder

He Is Presently Under Observation In Mental Hospital

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Circuit Attorney Thomas F. Eagleton said Saturday Charles E. Montague, under observation in a psychiatric hospital, will stand trial for murder in the strangulation death of his wife 11 days ago.

Eagleton said that if the recommendation of the director of Malcolm Bliss Hospital should result in a probable hearing and ultimate confinement in a mental hospital, habeas corpus proceedings would be instituted to bring Montague to trial.

The prosecutor said that if Dr. George Ulett, director of Malcolm Bliss, finds Montague to be normal, the 34-year-old laboratory technician will be arrested when he is turned loose from the hospital.

Montague was sent to Malcolm Bliss last week as police used a state law providing for the detention of persons believed dangerous to themselves or society. Montague is a former mental patient.

A murder warrant was issued Thursday against Montague. Dr. Ulett has 10 days in which to examine Montague.

Mrs. Ruth Ann Montague, 32, mother of two and a deeply religious social worker, was strangled and her body mutilated the night of Jan. 6 shortly after she had left a sorority party. Police called the killing the work of a sexual pervert.

Mikoyan Calls Off Visit to Florida

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Dep. Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan Saturday canceled a visit to Florida next week and decided to return to Moscow Tuesday, three days earlier than originally scheduled.

No reason for the change was given.

Mikoyan had been expected to start back for Russia next Thursday.

Many Crawl to Safety

Three Die in Hotel Blaze in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Three persons were killed, but scores of others saved their lives by crawling on their hands and knees through smoke-filled corridors as fire raced through the Tullier Hotel Saturday.

The blaze apparently started near the first floor of the 14-story hotel in the heart of downtown Detroit. It swept up an elevator shaft with amazing speed, and many of the guests in the 800-room hotel were trapped in their rooms temporarily.

Fire Commissioner Paxton Mendelsohn said more than a score of guests were hanging out of hotel windows when the first fire trucks arrived. Many were taken down by aerial ladders.

Others, including several elderly women who are permanent guests at the hotel, groped their way down smoky fire escapes. Many of the guests were clad only in nightclothes as they fled into the 12-degree cold. They found lodging at other hotels that also overlooked Detroit's Grand Circus Park.

Mendelsohn said the three dead were trapped in an elevator. He said they were coming down from upper floors and were caught in smoke and flames when they reached the main floor.

The dead were identified by the Wayne County medical examiner's department as John P. McDermott, 47, an assistant manager of the hotel; and John Henderson and George Washburn, both 65 and engineers at the hotel.

A hotel spokesman said there were 444 guests in 228 rooms in the hotel Friday night. He said the fire did not reach above the second floor but that the lobby was charred and the second floor scorched.

Receiving Hospital authorities said at least 14 injured had been admitted there, several in serious conditions. Names of the injured were not available immediately.

Mendelsohn said that the fact the fire had broken out in mid-morning, rather than at night, kept the death toll down.

Fire Chief Joseph H. Adler said the flames apparently had broken out in a partition near a hat shop on the lobby floor.

Adler said $150,000 would be a conservative estimate of the damage.

Professor's Subject at DSA Presentation

'Responsible Man' for Topic

Dr. Jack Matthews, dean of students and professor of physical education at the University of Missouri, will use as an appropriate topic, "The Responsible Man," for his talk at the annual Jaycee presentation of the Distinguished Service Award to a deserving Sedalia Jan. 22.

The DSA will be presented at a ceremony at the Old Missouri Homestead Thursday evening. Each year since the program was initiated in 1950, the Sedalia Jaycees have sponsored the DSA program. The winner is selected by a panel of judges over 35 years old, and therefore not members of the Jaycees. This year, according to DSA Chairman Bob Gardner, there are three judges instead of five, as was the case last year. They will remain anonymous until the presentation.

The selection of the winner will be based on information furnished by the public, using the accompanying nomination blank. Any Sedalia man between the ages of 21 and 35, inclusive, may be considered. Selection is based on character, leadership contribution to the community during the past year, and personality. The coupon may be mailed to Robert Gardner, Gordon building, Sedalia.

Indications are that there will be a large crowd. All of the previous DSA winners have been contacted and have indicated their intentions to attend. The affair is to be a smorgasbord. Anyone who wishes to purchase a ticket may attend. Previous winners and their current positions are Abe Silverman, 1950, mayor of Sedalia; Jerry Trotter, 1951, Pettis County tax assessor; Bert Hathaway, 1952, former salesman for the Bryant Motor Co., who has since moved to Kansas City; James E. Durlay, 1953, Sedalia attorney; the Rev. D. Warren Neal, 1954, pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian Church; Harold Barrick, 1955, Pettis County prosecuting attorney; Jack Delph, 1956, principal at Mark Twain School; and Jack Faber, 1957, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

Smart looking? You bet! And comfortable, too!

Sure, styling is important in a new car. You expect a new car to be sleek and smart—but not at the expense of comfort. Yet in trying to design a car as low and modern looking as the Swept-Wing Dodge, some '59 cars have practically designed out the people. Not Dodge. It's designed around you. It's easier to get into (no protruding door posts), easier to get out of (no high door sills to trip over), more comfortable to sit in (there's room to spare). All this and Swivel Seats, too!

Many Homes In Rockefeller Family Group

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — In the Rockefeller family, there are many mansions:

The ancestral estate at Tarrytown, N.Y.; the ranch at Jackson Hole, Wyo.; Bassett Hall in colonial Williamsburg; the hacienda in Venezuela; the suburban retreat in Washington's exclusive Fox Hollow; the summer place at Bar Harbor, Maine; the glass-bricked apartment overlooking Central Park.

A new one will be added Tuesday when Nelson Aldrich Rockefeller, boyishly handsome grandson of the fabulously wealthy oil magnate John D. Rockefeller, takes up temporary residence here on Eagle Street in the Victorian manor house set aside for governors of New York.

Whether the nation's richest politician has his heart set on moving two years hence to the more exalted digs at 1600 Pennsylvania Av., Washington, D.C., is a question that will draw increasing attention in the coming months.

At the moment Rockefeller is too busy crating up art masterpieces in his 32-room 5th Avenue apartment to worry about much else besides the 200-million-dollar budget deficit facing his administration. The art treasures, Matisse, Utrillo and Picassos, will replace American works taken down by fellow multimillionaire Averell Harriman, the Democrat whom Rockefeller defeated by more than a half million votes.

By winning handily in his first run for public office while veteran Republican campaigners were losing even more handily, "The Rock," as caption writers dubbed him, automatically catapulted himself into the 1960 presidential picture.

How he goes about handling the budget deficit, which is estimated at nearly twice his personal fortune, may provide the clue to his future intentions. Already, there have been murmurings of gasoline and cigarette tax increases. "They're not quoting me," insists the governor-elect, who so far has kept mum on the testy issue of tax raises. But he has recognized finances as his main worry.

"We were never given the biggest or the best of anything," Nelson once recalled his boyhood. "At Christmas we always exchanged inexpensive gifts."

Like his father before him, John D. Rockefeller Jr. had the children keep detailed accounts of their 25-cent weekly allowances and set aside 10 per cent for church and charity and another 10 per cent for savings.

PR Business Strong After The Recession

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — How business gets along with the public — its neighbors, customers, employees, government officials, press, and stockholders — is worrying more managements these days.

Experts in this gentle art — the public relations consultants — say their business has grown more in the last two years than any similar period.

For one thing, the public is taking more interest in how management behaves. And the investigating eyes of Washington quickly turn their way if trouble arises. For another, in this era of keener competition one company may have sales advantage if the public thinks well of it. So, after the recession shook down the PR business, it quickly rebuilt itself.

Officials of the American Public Relations Assn. say it's hard to pin down figures on the number of persons so engaged in the agencies or within corporations — some have estimated it as more than 100,000. What industry and institutions spend for this type of work runs into the millions of dollars annually.

Despite the growth, many a businessman isn't sure today whether he needs such counsel or not — and many times he doesn't at the price asked.

And many business executives aren't sure how much to rely on the PR service they now have and how much to use it.

To answer these questions, a study has been made of management's relations — not with the public — but the PR experts themselves. It is prepared strictly for executives by two active workers in the PR field (R. H. Sutherland of American Airlines and Jack Ramsberger, member of the National Air Transport Coordinating Committee.) The booklet is copyrighted by the Economics Press Inc., Montclair, N.J.

They hold that public relations fell into two parts: counseling and staff services. They estimate that 85 per cent of today's corporate PR departments or PR agencies operate heavily in services. These run all the way from writing speeches to planning open houses, from apprising the press of news about a company to getting the client theater tickets.

They say counseling — giving advance on what to do and what not to do — is the most important PR function, but the one which management has been slowest to accept.

To be a good counsellor the PR man must represent the public and not be just another employee. He should be able to tell management, "you are doing something bad for public relations; better do it another way."

PR costs can range from $15,000 a year for a one-man PR department to more than one million dollars on some big problem or issue attracting more than usual public attention.

If you are looking for a financial specialist, he should have heavy experience in PR counseling and communications with stockholders, MEAT EATERS — Argentines are the biggest red meat eaters in the world (see drawing). Per capita consumption there was 242 pounds in 1957. The United States produced 28.5 per cent of the world's red meat (beef, veal, pork, mutton, lamb, goat and horse meat) in 1957, but garnered only fifth place in consumption. Of the 43 countries listed by the U.S. Agriculture Department, Japan ranked lowest. Russia's average per person was believed to be around 53 pounds.

potential investors, and others interested in financial aspects of your company's story.

The authors question the value of quickie public relations. This is when a management gets into hot water and wants to be bailed out fast. Many PR firms shun the man who is "looking for a fixer," the authors say.

The best way for a company to get into public relations is slowly — see it that trouble doesn't arise. Executives are warned that "the most important and profitable use of your PR dollars is for prevention rather than cure."

Pair Not Interested In Punishment of Kidnapers

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato: "It is not a matter for the state," murmured Frank Chionchio. "It is for God to decide."

The question at issue was what was to be done with Jean Lavarone, accused of kidnapping the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chionchio 2½ hours after her birth in a Brooklyn hospital.

To the consternation of officials neither young lawyer Chionchio nor his wife wanted to press charges against widowed Mrs. Lavarone, mother of eight children herself, after a tip to police led to the discovery of their daughter in her home, not far from Brooklyn police headquarters.

The young couple who had borne themselves with a dignity beyond hysteria during their long ordeal, were not interested in punishing the kidnaper. They were only happy and grateful they had their baby back, alive and well.

This attitude was incomprehensible to the forces of the law, who had thrown from 300 to 700 men into a ten-day-and-night,

Communes in Retreat From Radicalism

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

Broadcasts from a Chinese Communist station show a retreat from the radical equalitarian communism in many of the new people's communes.

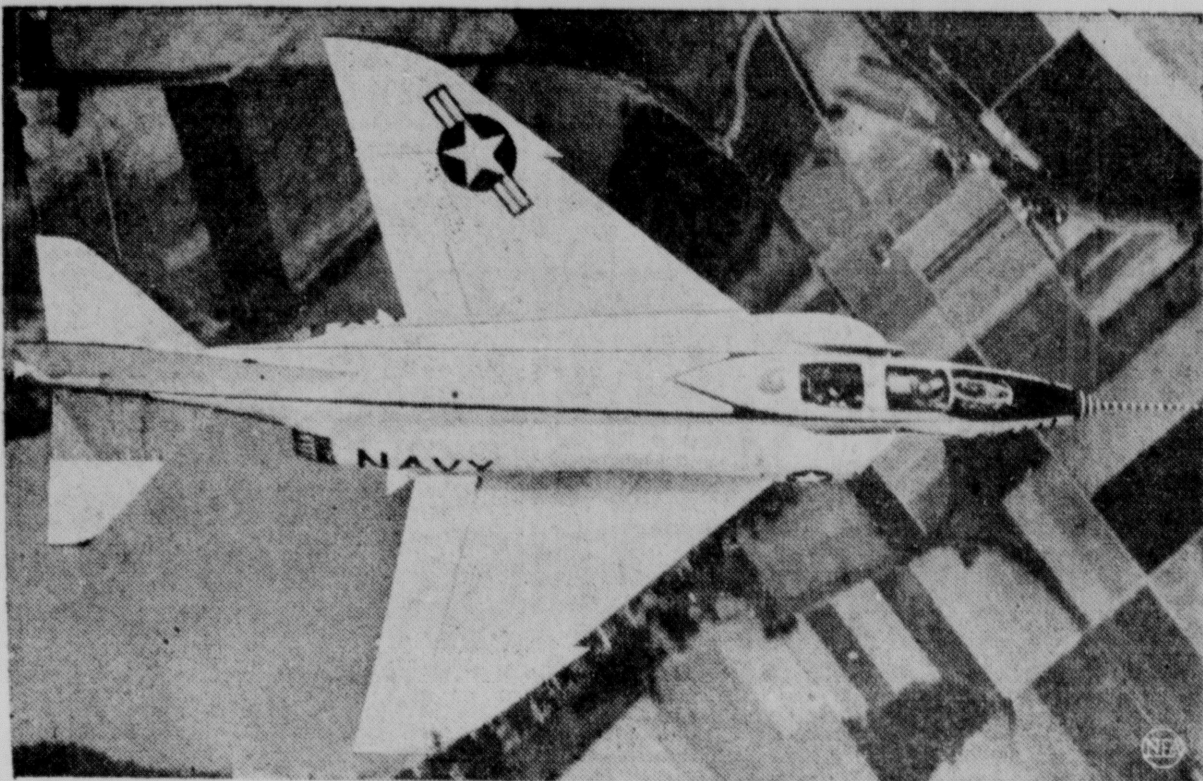

These communes are semimilitary units of tens of thousands of people which own everything and run everything in all rural China—agriculture, industry, politics and even a local militia or army.

As originally organized they were not totally equalitarian, but apparently as the movement has spread with forced impetus from have generally become more radical and more equalitarian.

Some stress is put on the idea that the communes are building for socialism, not communism. Earlier the Chinese Communist party's Central Committee indicated that the communes would permit China to move directly into communism in the near future.

To non-Communists the distinction between socialism and communism may seem thin. But not to Communists. Socialism is defined as a stage of development in which all persons work according to their abilities and receive compensation according to their quantity and quality of their work. Communism, on the other hand, is a stage in which all work according to their ability and receive according to their needs.

Broadcasts proclaiming a retreat from extreme equalitarianism emanate from Wuhan Station in Hupeh province in central China. They cite a letter from Wang Jen-chung, the first secretary of the Hupeh province Communist party, saying "there is now an erroneous tendency toward absolute equalitarianism." It adds that this takes form of equalizing the pay of all commune members and imposition of an equalized food allowance system.

Compton Not What Public Would Expect

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The way John Compton talks, you'd expect to find him in a Western or maybe "The Real McCoy's." Here's how he describes how he came to Hollywood:

"Well, sir, I was out on a ridge in the moonlight with this purty girl down in Tennessee. She looks up and says, 'John, yer jist handsome enough to be a movie star.' That was enough for me. The next day I told my mammy and pappy goodbye and started for Hollywood."

No cowpoke or hillbilly is Compton in the TV world. He plays the lead in "The D.A.'s Man," NBC's new Saturday night crime show produced by Jack Webb. Rangy, squarely built Compton is the wily undercover agent who adopts a variety of guises to ferret out criminals for a New York district attorney.

John tells a colorful story. But some of the things he says appear to be true.

He did come to Hollywood 15 years ago in search of the fortune which is only now materializing.

He had a contract at Warner Brothers for a couple of years, then the film depression struck and he was back on the streets again. But he persisted and lately had been doing well in TV films. He tried out for "The D.A.'s Man," but figured he didn't have a chance because he could never be mistaken for a New Yorker.

He figured without Jack Webb. The producer saw some film on Compton, had a couple of chats with him and ordered him signed. The actor told of the clincher, and you'll have to figure if it's legend or not.

It seems that Compton keeps bees. He has five hives of them at his home in the Hollywood hills.

"The morning I was to see Webb, I was cleaning out a hive of unfriendly ones," he said. "They stung me all over the arms about 200 times. I didn't even have time to take out the stingers. Webb asked me what they were and I told him. He said, 'If you can take that, you can take anything.'"

Main Street Bar Is Featured in Beverage Journal

The January issue of "Missouri Beverage Journal", the trade publication of the beverage industry in the state, featured the Main Street Bar in Sedalia. The Sedalia firm was noted as a credit to the industry.

The bar, located at 208 East Main, is owned by Jack Morris, and is noted for a number of reasons other than the fact that it is the leading colored bar in the city. The article stated:

"It is housed in a completely new and modern building of solid brick construction, known in its entirety as Abbott's Recreation Center, which also contains a restaurant and recreation hall in addition to the bar. The units are all under one roof, but in separate buildings.

"The bar is completely air-conditioned, has heavy duty asphalt floors, paneled walls and ceilings. The clean, modern rest rooms are equipped with electric hot air hand dryers. It has electric refrigerators and cooling boxes for wines, beers and sodas. Booths, tables and chairs and bar stools are leather upholstered, and the juke box and hand stand are of the latest type.

"It is one of Central Missouri's most modern, friendly gathering spots, and Sedalia can be proud of this tavern, which is a credit to a great industry."

The former Main Street Bar, located at 109 East Main, was torn down to make way for an off-street parking lot.

Glance Shows Routine Week In Television

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—It's not such a routine week in television as you might think from a casual glance at the listings for the next seven days.

If anyone cares what I think, here are some programs I'd recommend watching:

On Sunday afternoon:

An NBC news team will analyze the outlook for the 86th Congress from Washington.

The Last Word returns to CBS — by popular demand of a host of viewers who enjoy wit, words and wisdom.

A new program, The World of Ideas, makes its debut, also on CBS. Guests on the program will discuss the principles by which we live.

An hour satire on Hollywood, "Malice in Wonderland," will be seen on Omnibus over NBC.

NBC's Meet the Press extends its time to a full hour Sunday for an interview with visiting Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I Mikoyan.

The Twentieth Century on CBS offers the first of a two-part study of juvenile delinquency Sunday.

On Monday evening ABC presents "Youth Anonymous," an examination of Detroit's successful curbing of juvenile delinquency.

Bold Journey travels along in its customary spot on ABC, with this one a journey to Costa Rica.

Lowell Thomas offers viewers another High Adventure on CBS — this time on a U.S. Navy IGY expedition to a remote Pacific atoll for a look at the world's first use of rocket astronomy in the study of a solar eclipse.

On Wednesday, Edward R. Murrow is the moderator of a special CBS News study of "The Lost Class of '59" in Norfolk, Va., where the integration problem is keeping 10,000 students from furthering their education. The program examines the effects of the closing of six public schools on the community.

Art Carney stars in what sounds like an interesting Playhouse 90 offering Thursday over CBS — a new Rod Serling original TV drama entitled "The Velvet Alley."

Phil Silvers is both himself and Sgt. Bilko in a special hour show on CBS Friday night. His guests include Diana Dors and Sidney Chaplin.

Pottery can be formed in three ways — by hand, on a potter's wheel or by casting or molding.

UNESCO HEADQUARTERS—Three small children gaze upward at the modernistic archway leading to the secretariat building of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) in Paris. In this new three-million-dollar palace, intellectual leaders of 81 countries attend sessions of the organization. The seven-story building is walled entirely with glass. There are two other main units—a conference building and an office for permanent delegations to UNESCO and nongovernmental organizations.

Stover Grade School
Destroyed By Fire

The Stover Lutheran Grade School was destroyed by fire, believed to have been caused by a defective stoker, at about 12:30 a.m. Friday. Damages, including the equipment lost, were estimated at $30,000.

The blaze was discovered by Homer Waisner, Stover's night marshal, as he was making his round. He immediately notified the Stover volunteer fire department. The fire had started in the furnace room and by the time the firemen arrived the entire basement men arrived the entire basement was a mass of flames. The blaze quickly ate its way through the roof of the one-story structure as the firemen's efforts were ineffective.

Only two hours earlier the Walter League, a young people's group, had adjourned a meeting in the basement. Fire Chief C. W. Geary speculated that since it was an unusually cold night an overload of coal had overheated the furnace, causing a malfunction that resulted in the fire.

The school, constructed in 1937, consisted of three ground floor classrooms and three other rooms, including a cafeteria, in the basement. Fifty-nine students attended the school, which was located on Highway 52 on the west side of Stover.

According to information received, the students will resume classes in about a week in the Industrial Arts Building of the Stover public high school.

Schaeffer and Engineer O. W. Molloyhan, also of Kansas City, talked calmly by radio almost constantly with TWA officials and mechanics on the ground.

Capt. Schaeffer praised the passengers. "They reacted wonderfully," he said.

Mrs. O'Dowd summed it up by saying, "I wasn't scared, but I prayed awfully hard."

As he circled the city Capt. Schaeffer communicated, "I've lost my hydraulic pressure. My right gear is up and can't be lowered. The left one is down and won't come up, and the nose wheel is partly retracted and stuck. We have a fluid leak. We're trying to block off the line to save fluid and build up some pressure to operate the gear."

This was done eventually, thanks to a souvenir Mexican penny. TWA engineers on the ground told Schaeffer to try to find an object to block the line so the pressure could build up. The penny did the trick.

Tigers Lose to Kewps 59-33 For Sixth Straight Setback

S-C Suffers Seventh Loss In 8 Games

Although Tigers
Halt Kewpie Aces,
A Soph Takes Over

The Columbia Kewpies capped dedication ceremonies of the new and beautiful Hickman Fieldhouse Friday night by smearing the Smith-Cotton Tigers, 59-33 as a large crowd watched. It was Sedalia's worst performance during the dismal season.

The setback was the seventh in eight games for Coach Howard Glavin's small cagers. The Bengals have now dropped six straight—one of the longest S-C losing streaks in many seasons. The Tigers, with a 1-6 mark in the Central Missouri Conference, apparently are headed for the cellar.

The Columbians, enjoying a big height advantage, beat the Tigers off the boards and turned their rebounds into their most valuable asset.

Smith-Cotton, after falling behind 13-7 in the first quarter, played the Kewpies on even terms during the second period. However, Columbia turned the game into a rout by outgunning the Tigers, 18-3, in the third period.

The Tigers held the Columbia offensive aces, Jim Winscott and Jim Estes, in check. Winscott scored five points and Estes got nine. However, sophomore Wes Fewell took care of the Kewpies attack by pumping in 21 points. Bob Vedder tossed in 16 for Sedalia.

Smith-Cotton fared better in the sophomore contest, pulling out a 42-40 overtime verdict behind the fine shooting of freshman Art Wiggins.

Coach Bob Edmundson's young Bengals galloped ahead, 25-12, during the first half, but Columbia came back to tie the score, 35-35, at the end of regulation play.

During the overtime period Wiggins, a 6-footer, personally carried the Tigers to victory by scoring six of Sedalia's seven points. For the game Wiggins, notched 15 points, followed by J. R. Walker's 11. Simon and Comfort were the leading Columbia scorers with 13 and 11 points, respectively.

The Tigers play again Tuesday night in the opening round of the 17th annual Fulton Invitational Basketball Tournament. The Helias Crusaders of Jefferson City will furnish the opposition.

The Hickman Kewpies have been seeded first in the tourney. Mexico and Hannibal, both of the Central Missouri Conference, are seeded second and fourth respectively. The New Haven Shamrocks, defending Missouri Class S champions, have been seeded third. Teams seeded fifth through eighth—in consecutive order—are Fulton, Eldon, Moberly and Jefferson City. Helias. Other entries are Hermann, Columbia University High, Booneville, Wellsville and Montgomery City.

Nelson Loses 53-31 Decision to Santa Fe

The hapless Nelson Eagles skidded a notch farther into the LaSaline Conference cellar Friday night, crushed by the forces of Santa Fe, 53-31, in a game played on the Nelson hardwoods.

It has been a bleak season for Coach O. A. Metz's crew. They've won only one game. With a senior high student enrollment of only 54, Metz isn't able to be too selective in his choice of talent. The team, one of the area's smallest, averages 5-foot-8.

After giving Santa Fe a stiff first quarter fight, the Eagles dropped out of contention in the second period. Charles Schmidt led Santa Fe with 18 points. Ross Hunt, a senior forward, collected 12 for Nelson.

Santa Fe also won the girls' basketball game, 49-35. Nelson led, 6-5, after the opening period, but the visitors shot ahead, 27-14, by intermission and were never threatened again. Schmidt scored 31 for Santa Fe. Judy Doty got 27 for Nelson.

1958 Forest Fire Report Second Best on Record

Missouri's forest fire report for 1958 was the second best on record, according to State Forester George O. White.

Only 21,962 acres were burned by 2,277 wild fires on the 10 fire protection districts maintained by the Conservation Commission embracing 8,802,058 acres of forest land. "This amounts to only one-tenth of an acre burned for each 100 acres protected," White said.

In contrast, he estimated that 150,000 acres burned in the 4,338,000 acres not under fire protection by state or federal agencies. The U. S. Forest Service protects about 2 million acres in the state, which includes 1,300,000 acres of federally-owned land.

Only 1957 bettered the record set in 1958. That year 1,695 fires burned 13,909 acres. Since 1939 the number of acres burned has steadily decreased while the number of acres protected has climbed from 2 million to nearly 8 million.

White said there has been big improvement in just the past 10 years. In 1948 the area protected was less than half what it is now and the average fire burned about 40 acres. In 1958 the average fire burned only 9.65 acres.

Best record in the state last year was in the Daniel Boone district, with headquarters at Warrenton, where the average fire was two acres, which amounts to two acres burned for each 10,000 protected. Next was Meramec district, headquarters at Sullivan, where the average size was 3.42 acres, or 9.8 acres burned for each 10,000 protected.

Almost half the total damaged by wildfires occurred in the Lake of the Ozarks district, headquarters at Camden, where 10,202 acres burned. The average fire covered 16.3 acres, or 86.4 acres for each 10,000 protected.

Two other right-handed pitchers also signed contracts. Veteran reliever Marv Grissom and rookie Bob Blaylock became the 10th and 11th Cardinals in the fold.

The Cards dealt pitcher Billy Muffett, catcher Hobie Landrith and infielder Benny Valenzuela for Grissom and Broglie.

Monte Carlo Rally Will Get Underway Sunday

PARIS — The world's biggest auto competition—the Monte Carlo Rally—starts Sunday when more than 300 cars take off through all kinds of weather on the road to sunny Monaco.

The weather, as usual, probably will be the drivers' major opponent. Starting from Glasgow, Athens, The Hague, Lisbon, Munich, Rome, Stockholm, Warsaw or Paris, the two to four-man driving teams will follow prescribed routes all averaging approximately 2,173 miles (3,500 kilometers).

Glasgow drivers shove off first at 3 p.m. Sunday. The last of the drivers will leave Paris at 1 a. m. Monday. The timetable calls for three days of grueling day and night driving which will put the teams Monte Carlo Wednesday, if things go as planned.

Bunceton Routs Prairie Home In CCAA Battle

The Bunceton Dragons routed Prairie Home 36-39 in a CCAA Conference game played at Prairie Home Friday night. The victory was Bunceton's fifth in conference play without a defeat.

The fast moving Dragons, sparked by the 32 point performance of 6-foot jump shot artist Ron Dick, held Prairie Home to 16 points in the first half, while scoring 37.

Prairie Home did not threaten the Bunceton lead once in the game. Bunceton scored 49 points in the second half, and Prairie Home's efforts produced only 23. Rich Dick followed his brother Ron in scoring with 18 points. Harold Young contributed 17. High Scorer for Prairie Home was L. Kinsey with 13, followed by R. Stegner and G. Meyer who scored nine each.

Bunceton's girl basketball team squeezed past the Prairie Home by one point, 29-28, for their fifth conference win. They haven't lost either. TAMPA, Fla. — Ruthie Jensen of Seattle, Wash., who never has won a major tournament, Saturday forged into the lead after three rounds of the Tampa Women's Open Golf Tournament.

A Bald Eagle Makes Effective Duck Retriever

CHARLESTON, Mo.—Charleston School Superintendent J. H. Marshall has the most unusual hunting story to come out of southeast Missouri—if not the entire state—in many a moon, according to Ark Province, conservation agent for Mississippi county.

Marshall and his two sons were duck hunting on a sand bar along the Mississippi near here in late December when a flight of five or six ducks swung over the pit. Marshall let fly with his 12-gauge.

At first it looked like a clean miss but when the ducks were about midstream one veered out of formation and fell into the water. A bald eagle began circling over the fallen duck.

Suddenly it plummeted down, grabbed the duck in its talons and began making for the Illinois shore. There a flock of gulls caught the bird to chance course and head back toward Missouri.

For some unknown reason, Marshall said, as the eagle passed near the hunter's pit, it dropped the duck. The school superintendent said that when he dressed the duck an examination showed that one pellet had entered the duck's heart and its body showed marks of the eagle's talons.

Marshall added that he wouldn't have told the story if there hadn't been witnesses.

Capital, Troop 51, Optimist A's Score Victories

In games Friday night at Convention Hall, the Optimist A team took over first place in the A division of the Optimist League while the Sedalia Capital and Troop 51 gained a first place tie in the B Division.

The Optimist team took the measure of Phillips 66 in a closely-contested ball game by a score of 27-23. After breaking a 4-4 deadlock in the first quarter, the Optimists stayed in front all the way. Phillips threatened throughout the game, but could never gain the lead.

Troop 51 gained an easy victory over the Optimist C team, 29-7, while the Capital had a more difficult time in overcoming the First Baptist RAs by a 19-14 margin. With the wins, Troop 51 and the Capital set the stage for their game next week to decide the league leadership. Both teams are sporting 2-0 records.

Charleston ABC Protests Absence Of Elgin Baylor

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — The American Business Club of Charleston Saturday protested to the National Basketball Assn. over the failure of rookie star Elgin Baylor to appear in the Minneapolis-Cincinnati game it sponsored.

ABC promoter H. Thomas Corie said he telegraphed league president Maurice Podoloff in New York which read:

"Urge disciplinary action against Elgin Baylor of Minneapolis club, who refused to play against Cincinnati here Friday night in protest of hotel segregation. Records show Minneapolis club was advised on Dec. 29 that segregation enforced at hotels. His absence from line-up most embarrassing to us and damaged our chances of promoting future NBA games here."

Corie said losses on the game would run to at least $800.

Most of the 2,356 fans who went out in bad weather to attend were unaware of what was going on.

SEDALIA'S ripe for expansion on bowling; at least that's the talk about town the past few days. Sometime ago there was talk of a new bowling alley to be built on South Highway 65 near 16th and Limit, but because of real estate difficulties it died out.

It has been rumored, or at least the rumor has originated again the past few days, about the building of another bowling palace. The location hasn't leaked out, nor definitely who was interested. However, information given me was the new set-up would be a 20-alley operation.

The Broadway Bowling Lanes on West Broadway has proven without a doubt the interest in bowling in Sedalia. This 16-alley institution has proven good business, and furthermore, brought out the bowling instinct in many people who hadn't any idea they would like the game.

The Sedalia Bowling Lanes on East Second suffered for a brief time, but now those alleys are kept just as busy as they were before the Broadway Lanes came into being. There is room for more bowling in Central Missouri and, in fact, Sedalia has a great potential for an increase with all of the smaller towns in the area showing interest—but which don't have bowling accommodations.

If my guess is right as to the party interested in this venture, it certainly will not be a failure.

WITH the prospects of the State Bowling tournament coming to Sedalia, certainly the 20-alley deal might be a welcome thing for the tournament.

Actually I don't think it would hurt either of the two alleys, but if a combination of the Sedalia Bowling Lanes with the new prospect was made it might be a boom to the new prospect.

Bob Land, owner of Sedalia Lanes, said he had not been approached, nor had he heard any rumors of the new bowling palace since last year.

Windsor Wins 48-12 Loop Tilt Over Warrensburg

The Windsor Greyhounds, after losing to Warrensburg for three years in conference play, reversed the situation by defeating the Tigers, 48-12, in a West Central Conference game at Windsor Friday night.

Big gun for the Greyhounds was Gary Womble who dumped in 16 points, followed by Jerry Smith with 15. Womble, 5-foot-5 guard connected with long shots and lay-ups.

The game was a nip and tuck affair with Warrensburg leading, 21-20, at the half. Windsor's attack opened up in the second half, and they outscored the Tigers 16-9 in the third period to take command, 36-30.

Warrensburg was unable to come back in the last period, but scored on even terms with the Greyhounds, 12-12. Schreiman scored 12 points to lead the Warrensburg scoring, and Colster chipped in 11.

The Windsor B Team also defeated Warrensburg, 45-25, with Taylor scoring 16 and L. Womble 8 for Windsor. Sellman and Morley scored 12 and 9 respectively for Warrensburg.

The Greyhounds have a 3-6 season record. In conference this was their first win against three losses. Windsor will meet Calhoun at Windsor Tuesday and will play at Rich Hill Friday night.

Blue Birds Show '57-'58 Form

Hubbard Slaughtered, 85-60, By Fast Improving Cole Camp

The Cole Camp Blue Birds served notice to future opponents that they'll be tough to cope with during the remainder of the current cage campaign. Coach Jim Lucas' Hubbard Tigers, victims of Cole Camp's 85-60 slaughter Friday night, will verify the fact.

The Blue Birds, under the guidance of rookie coach Bill Crowder, were unpredictable at the season's start. Now the team has jelled to the extent that it resembles the Blue Birds of 1957-58 which was one of Central Missouri's strongest quintets.

The victory avenged a 59-56 loss which Cole Camp suffered against Hubbard in the semi-finals of the Stover Invitational Tournament in December.

Hubbard couldn't contain 6-foot-5 David Schnakenberg on the Sedalia court Friday night. That was the difference. The senior center hooped 41 points to spark the flashy Cole Camp offense by connecting for 17 fielders and seven charity tosses. By quarter, he scored 12, 8, 6, and 15 points. Three of his teammates chipped in with two digit scoring efforts.

Cole Camp sped ahead, 22-17, in the first quarter, but Hubbard, led by Leroy Johnson and Charles Buford, trailed by only two at halftime, 38-36, on the strength of a 19 point second quarter.

The Blue Birds sewed it up with a balanced attack which netted 22 points in the third quarter. Hubbard, unable to shake the Cole Camp defenders, collected only eight.

The leading scorer for Hubbard was Charles Buford with 18, followed by Leroy Johnson's 13. The Tigers' Johnson and Burl Jones fouled out in the fourth quarter.

Pintos Stop New Bloomfield To Take California Crown

The California Pintos, playing the best brand of ball in weeks, unleashed a fabulous attack to batter the New Bloomfield Wildcats, 85-54, Saturday night in the championship game of the 29th annual California Invitational Tournament.

It was the second straight year the host Pintos have nailed down the title and their fourth title since the meet originated in 1930. It also was the second time the Californians have defeated New Bloomfield this season in tournament play. They turned the trick in December in the Tipton meet for third place honors. California now boasts a 17-1 record.

The favored Pintos made quick work of the second seeded New Bloomfield quintet. Moving into a five point, 18-13 first quarter lead, the Californians wrapped up the title—for all practical purposes—in the second quarter when they looped in 22 points and held the potent New Bloomfield attack to six. That gave the Pintos a commanding 40-19 lead at intermission.

All California starters were in the two digit scoring column. Eddy Hert was big gun with 17. Gary Wineland, Jerry Pace, Louis Gabert and Donnie Flippin each collected 14. The high scorers for New Bloomfield were Terry Howell and Bob Rankin with 17 and 16 points, respectively.

The Osage Indians gave the vastly improved Tipton Cardinals a tremendous scare during the first half before the Cards began consistently chopping away at a 30-20 halftime deficit during the final two quarters to wrap up third place. By the end of the third period the Cardinals had cut Osage's lead to 39-35, and it wasn't until with two minutes to go that Jim Newkirk tied it up with a field goal. Those were Newkirk's only points of the game.

John Tankersley and Bob Huhmann paced the Tipton offensive with 19 and 16 points, respectively, and Miller led the Indians with 15. Jamestown contested Linn's bid for the consolation championship by doing no more than appearing on the court.

The tough Linn aggregation raced to a 20-9 first quarter lead and was never challenged. At the half they were leading 45-17, as three Linn players were on their way to a 20-plus night. Hale led the bombardment with 24. R. Herndon rammed in 22, and Chambers bucketed 20. Cox led Jamestown's impotent attack with 18.

As predicted, New Bloomfield and California — seeded 1-2 in the 29th annual California Invitational Tournament — won the right to clash in the finals.

New Bloomfield, led by deadly shooting jump shot specialist David Smith's 39 points, exploded in the finest offensive display of the meet to smother the Osage Indians 90-64, in the semi-finals.

The Wildcats, with a 14-2 record for the season, breezed ahead of Osage, 20-10, in the first period. In each following quarter the winners padded their margin in the offensive minded contest.

The heavily favored California Pintos came from behind in overtime to pull out a 54-53 thriller from the fired-up Tipton Cardinals in the other semi-finals battle. It was the second straight time the Californians were required to come through with the chips down. They nosed by the Smith Tigers in the quarterfinals on a 15 foot fielder just before the final gun.

At the end of regulation play the score was tied at 46-46. The teams traded baskets twice, and Tipton broke on top, 51-50, on a charity toss with one and one-half minutes remaining. Eddie Hert hit two free throws to send the Pintos into a 52-51 lead. Don Flippin followed with a game clinching fielder to push the winners ahead, 54-51. With six seconds remaining Tipton scored on a crisp while the California defenders — taking no chances on a three point play — merely watched.

Coach Bob Powers' rapidly improving Cards squeezed out a 9-8 first period lead and stretched the margin to four points, 24-20, at halftime. The Californians narrowed the deficit to two points in the third quarter and managed to send the game into overtime in the fourth by evening the count. Jerry Pace had a chance to wrap it up for California with only seconds left in regulation play, but he rimmed a free toss.

Both teams hit 19 field goals. The difference came at the charity line where the Pintos cashed in with 16 one pointers, compared to 15 for the Cards. California committed 19 fouls, Tipton 16.

Linn and Jamestown advanced to the consolation game of the consolation bracket by losing Friday afternoon victories. Linn

A Lesson On How Not to Make The 16th Hole

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Hans Merrell, pro from Mogadore, Ohio, gave golfers a real lesson—on how not to play the 16th hole at Cypress Point.

Merrell, in surprising good humor, described in detail his record-shattering 19 strokes on the over-the-ocean 222-yard par-3 hole. Playing in the $50,000 Bing Crosby golf tournament, the 41-year-old professional faded his drive. It fell on a beach 75 feet below the green. Shot No. 2 looked simple but Merrell hit a rock and skulled the ball into some heavy bushes. He moved the ball a foot (No. 3) and took four more whacks (Nos. 4, 5, 6 and 7) before burying it, No. 8.

The ball was unplayable, so Merrell walked back to the beach and dropped the ball. Two-stroke penalty.

The next shot: back in the bushes (No. 11). Two more whacks, (No. 12, 13). Each time the ball fell backward on the steep hill. Then he buried it again (No. 14).

Back to the beach because of the unplayable lie (15, 16) and at last, success: Merrell made it to the green. He almost sank a 20-foot putt for an 18.

Merrell eclipsed Porky Oliver's record 16 pokes on the same hole in 1954.

bounced Tuscumbia, 76-59, after getting a first quarter scare. Phil Chambers led the Linn attack with 27 points. Jim Abbott flipped in 23 for Tuscumbia.

Mokane, after leading 22-21 at halftime, went cold in the third quarter and opened the door for Jamestown's triumph. Walt Varner accounted for 17 of Jamestown's points. Thomas hit 16 for Mokane. California 18 22 14 12 8-54

Wall Holds Onto Lead In Crosby Golf

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Long putts continued to drop Saturday for Art Wall Jr. as he fired his third straight subpar round and held his lead in the $50,000 Bing Crosby Golf Tournament with a 54-hole total of 204.

The Pocono Manor, Pa., veteran toured the picturesque and tricky Pebble Beach course for a two-under-par 70 and a four-stroke lead going into Sunday's 18-hole final. Jimmy Demaret hung onto second place by matching Wall's score over Pebble Beach for a 208 total.

Gene Little of San Diego moved into the No. 1 spot with a 70 at Cypress Point and a 210.

Alone at 211 was Bob Rosburg, Palo Alto, Calif. Three tied at 212—Don January of Eastland, Tex., with a 70 and Wesley Ellis of San Antonio and John McMullin of Alameda, Calif., with 71s.

The group at 213 included the first-round co-leader Billy Maxwell; Jay Hebert who won here in 1957, and Masters champion Arnold Palmer. Maxwell shot 72, Hebert a 73 and Palmer a 67.

A crowd of about 25,000 in a holiday mood this summery day swarmed over the three courses. Those in the right places saw George Fazio of Germantown, N.J., score a hole-in-one on the 158-yard seventh at Monterey Peninsula Country Club and Hans Merrell of Mogadore, Ohio, take a horrendous 19 on the over-the-ocean 16th hole at Cypress Point.

Crosby's tournament rewards pros for individual efforts and for their pro-amateur performances with amateur partners.

Wall and his partner, U. S. Amateur champion Charlie Coe, held the team lead with a best ball 62 Saturday and 187 total.

Tied for second were the teams of Demaret and California football Coach Pete Elliott, and Ellis and San Francisco amateur Frank Tatum Jr. Each had 191 with 65 Saturday.

Wall dropped birdie putts of 12 feet at the fourth, 40 at the fifth, 35 at the ninth and 15 at the fourteenth, putting himself in a solid position for the $4,000 top prize and $2,000 more as the pro on the winning team.

Wall opened with a 69 over the Cypress Point course. Friday he followed with a 65 at Monterey Peninsula.

Sunday the low 60 pros and 40 pro-amateur teams wind up the play over Pebble Beach with a national television (ABC) audience watching the finals.

Western Auto Edges Alma In Overtime

The Western Auto Wizards came out of a five minute overtime with a one point victory over the Alma Independents, 84-83, on the Sacred Heart Court Saturday night. Ray Homan took game honors with 34, followed by H. Dieckhoff and L. Northern of Alma with 23 and 21, respectively. Saturday's play gave the Wizards a 15-4 season record with their next game scheduled for Tuesday night at Prairie Home.

Mizzou Tigers Bow To Boozer and Co., 75-60

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Bob Boozer racked up 30 points and the Kansas State Wildcats boosted their season record to 13-1 by defeating a weak Missouri Tiger team 75-60 in a Big Eight basketball game Saturday night.

It was Kansas State's fourth victory without a loss in the Big Eight and left them in sole possession of the league lead as Oklahoma knocked off Kansas 45-38 at Norman, Okla., in an afternoon game.

Missouri has now lost nine games in a row and has dropped all four of its Big Eight games.

Kansas State led 34-25 at the half, nipped a Missouri rally midway of the last period and won going away. It was the ninth straight victory for Kansas State and also the Wildcats' ninth in a row at Columbia.

'Short Paid' Mail Charge Is Suspended

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced today that he has ordered indefinite suspension of the 5-cent charge on "short paid" mail (mail with insufficient postage).

The extension of the deferment has been ordered as a result of Congressional action designed to abolish the extra charge permanently by legislation.

Public Law 85-371, effective July 1, 1958, provided that a short paid charge in addition to the lawful postage should be collected from the addressee on delivery of mail not fully prepaid but has ended too over the costs incurred. The 5-cent charge was adopted to cover the costs.

However, under authority contained in the law, the Post Office Department, on August 1, suspended the 5-cent charge pending further study. This suspension had been scheduled to terminate Feb. 1, but will now be continued for an indefinite period, until a final Congressional decision on the matter is forthcoming. Mr. Summerfield explained.

The 5 cent short paid charge should not be confused with regular "postage due charges" for unpaid mail or mail bearing insufficient postage. Mr. Summerfield pointed out.

Postage due charges are not involved in the present deferment. For example, an ordinary first-class letter with a 3 cent stamp instead of the required 4 cent stamp is still subject to a penny postage due charge.

The possibility of Congressional action was called to the Postmaster General's attention by Rep. Edward H. Rees of Kansas, a member of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee, who suggested an indefinite postponement until Congress has had an opportunity to act on the matter.

Sacred Heart Loses Consolation

Knob Noster Wins Its Own Tournament Title

The Knob Noster Panthers put the breaks on Leeton's high scoring Paul Underwood and little Larry Wharton rammed in 30 points Saturday night as the Panthers won the championship in their own invitational tournament. Alma whipped LaMonte 52-48 for third place and Sweet Springs knocked off the Sacred Heart Gremlins 71-65 for the consolation championship.

Leeton tied the Panthers 36-36 just after the fourth quarter opened, but Wharton, Knob Noster's 5-foot-7 guard, hit for 14 points in that quarter and boosted the host team to the victory.

Wharton's 30 points was tops for the game. Underwood, who is accustomed to 20-plus games, was held to 13, but that was still high for the Leeton crew. Lynde was next with 11.

In the contest for third place, LaMonte gave Alma a good battle through the first half, trailing 27-25 at the intermission after chopping away at a 16-10 first quarter deficit.

However, the highly regarded Alma quintet, with Dennis Miller carrying the load, pulled away in the third quarter to a 43-33 lead. With the Alma reserves taking to the floor in the final period, the Vikings battled back to the threatening stages just as the final buzzer sounded.

Gene Whitaker paced the LaMonte attack with 17 points and Alma's Dennis Miller played his usual role of leading scorer with 29 points.

In the battle for the consolation title, the Sacred Heart Gremlins, in spite of displaying one of their finest scoring attacks of the season, could not cope with the superior Sweet Springs offensive. Each of the five starting Gremlins scored nine points or more, with Paul Bennett pacing the attack with 19.

The Greyhounds managed a 38-29 halftime lead, but Sacred Heart cut it down to 50-44 at the three-quarters mark. The two teams played on even terms from there on.

Doug Schelp was Sweet Springs' big gun with 24 points.

In Friday night's tilts, Knob

Noster gained the right to play for the championship by ousting top-seeded Alma, basketball power of the La-Saline Conference, 53-51. Leeton drubbed LaMonte's Vikings 71-39, in the other semifinal game and Sweet Springs ripped Lone Jack, 66-50, to meet Sacred Heart's Gremlins in the consolation championship battle Saturday night.

Alma demoralized the Panthers in the first quarter by taking an 18-8 lead after Knob Noster had unsuccessfully applied a full court press at the beginning of the game. However, the host team put the full court press into effect in the second period with better results.

Paced by Larry Wharton and Howard McKeehan, the Panthers fought back for a 26-23 halftime lead. Wharton bucketed nine points on three field goals and three charity tosses during the period and McKeehan tossed in four points on two field goals.

Knob Noster built up a nine point margin shortly after the intermission but Alma cut it down to 41-34 at the three-quarters mark.

The Panthers, after playing with the visitors for about four minutes after the fourth period began, went into a semi-stall that held Alma at bay in spite of Larry Draper fouling out with about six minutes to go.

Don Kuhlmann's clutch hitting proved to be the winning factor as he bucketed two field goals and one free throw with four minutes left that kept the Panthers in front. Alma's Ronnie Meyers lost an opportunity to tie it up when he missed two charity tosses.

Wharton and Draper played their usual roles of sparking the Knob Noster victories with 20 and 10 points, respectively. Dennis Miller, Alma's 6-foot-2 senior center jump shot artist, was the game's top scorer with 29.

LaMonte showed no likeness of Thursday night's form as they were drubbed by Leeton, 71-39.

Leeton raced to a 20-6 first quarter lead and was never threatened.

Gene Whitaker led LaMonte with 14 points and Underwood hit 32 for Leeton.

Sweet Springs did the same thing to Lone Jack. The Greyhounds took a 25-8 lead at the end of the first quarter and mastered the losers throughout the contest.

Kenneth Duffield paced Sweet Springs with 16 and Stogsdill led Lone Jack with 18.

Dates Ahead

Saturday, Jan. 24, Pettis County Soils and Crops Conference, Smith-Cotton High School, beginning at 9:45 a.m.

Tuesday, Jan. 27, Annual 4-H Leaders Conference, First Methodist Church, Sedalia Recognition dinner and pins sponsored by Chain Stores and Associated Stores of Sedalia.

4-H Members Attending College
College and University students away from home may enroll in 4-H Club work in their home club as long as there is a possibility of them attending at least 6 community meetings. At the University of Missouri (Columbia) and Central Missouri State College (Warrensburg) there is a special College 4-H Club which enables 4-Hers to enroll in their home club but attend community meetings at college.

There is a special exception concerning their project work, too. Usually it isn't possible for them to attend regular project meetings, so they are pretty much on their own but can still get some assistance from the project leader. Girls sometimes enroll in a Clothing or Foods project and boys in projects such as Livestock, Dairy, Field Crops, or Soil Fertility. In the case of Dairy or Livestock projects, the College 4-Her is to assume full responsibility for the project when they are at home and full responsibility for all except daily care when away. Selection of animals, choice of rations, measuring out of feeds, keeping records, and the like is the 4-Her's responsibility. College 4-Hers may exhibit their products the same as other 4-Hers.

4-H Grain Marketers To Chicago
Two Missouri farm boys attended a two-day visit to Chicago and the Chicago Board of Trade. The two were Missouri's delegates to the annual 4-H Grain Marketing Clinic and Tour Jan. 13 and 15. Missouri Agricultural Extension Service 4-H Leader Frank Graham named Carl Silver of Mexico and Joseph Paulmeyer of Silas as delegates.

Twelve states in the Middle West sent delegates to the conference. Silver and Paulmeyer, both 16-years old, were selected for outstanding work in 4-H field crops and grain marketing work.

Among some of activities planned for the conference: 4-Hers visited Chicago Board of Trade and studied its grain marketing operations and toured a cereal mill. The 4-H Grain Marketing Clinic and Tour was sponsored by Chicago Board of Trade, Cooperative Extension Service, and National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work.

Youth Gets $500 Achievement Award

A Missouri 4-H'er has been named a $500 winner for national achievement in turkey growing. One of two such awards given annually goes to Miss Deanna Borron of Winigan.

One girl and one boy are presented National Turkey Federation Youth Achievement Awards each year, according to Glenn Geiger, University of Missouri Extension poultry specialist. There were 19 youthful turkey growers throughout the nation in competition for the two scholarships.

Miss Borron has been a top exhibitor in the junior division of the Missouri Turkey Show. The 18-year-old high school senior had the champion birds in 1956 and 1957, and exhibited the runner-up champion this year.

Included with the $500 scholarship is a trip to the Annual Turkey Federation Meeting in January in Des Moines, Iowa.

'Pope John's' Tomb Puzzles Tourist Group

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—The tourists were downright puzzled. They had just come from Rome, where a vigorous Pope John XXIII rules the Vatican. Now they were in Florence looking at the tomb of Pope John XXIII.

The guide saw the bewilderment on their faces.

"I'm sorry," he said. "I must explain. This is the tomb of a Pope John XXIII who died in the 15th century. He really wasn't a legitimate pope. He was an antipope, a false claimant to the papacy."

"For years I have told tourists that this is the tomb of Pope John XXIII. I never had to distinguish between him and the present pope. Now I must and I keep forgetting."

Donatello and Michelozzo, two of the greatest Italian Renaissance sculptors, have given the antipope a magnificent tomb just outside the historic cathedral of Florence.

How did a man considered a false pope get such a fine tomb?

The antipope, born about 1370, was Baldassarre Cossa, son of a noble family of Naples. He was 8 when the "Great Schism" split the Roman Catholic Church. One pope, Clement VII, set up shop in Avignon, France; another, Urban VI, in Rome.

The schism continued through the reigns of Popes Boniface IX, Innocent VII and Gregory XII in Rome, while the antipope Benedict XII succeeded Clement in Avignon.

Cossa, a youth of talent and energy, entered the service of the popes of Rome and became a cardinal at the age of 32. Seven years later he played an important part in the Council of Pisa, which sought to resolve the schism. Instead, it merely created another schismatic faction.

The council ruled that both Gregory XII at Rome and Benedict XII in Avignon should be deposed. Then Cossa brought about the election of Alexander V, now considered an antipope. A year later, in 1410, Alexander died and Cossa was elected Pope John XXIII by the cardinals supporting him.

The schism had political overtones and Cossa had the solid support of the rich city of Florence, which was then building itself into a rival of Rome and of France.

But Gregory in Rome and Benedict in Avignon both refused to give way to Alexander or his successor, John, and until 1415 there were three rival claimants to the papacy.

In that year, the Council of Constance brought about John's abdication. Benedict was declared deposed. Gregory resigned to help resolve the schism.

Two years later, Martin V was elected pope and the schism ended. Cossa paid homage to Martin, who returned the erstwhile Pope John XXIII to the cardinalate.

Cossa had long been a favorite of the flourishing Florentine Republic and he went to Florence to spend his last years. On his death, his magnificent tomb was ordered built by Cosimo de Medici, a founder of the powerful ruling family of Renaissance Florence.

Change Not Justified

Administration Still Opposes Two-Price Plan for Exports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower Administration has not changed its opposition to broad use of government payments to supplement farm income or to a food stamp plan to move surpluses to the needy.

Likewise, it still opposes two-price plans for wheat and other export crops. Under such plans, prices for domestically consumed portions of these crops would be supported at a relatively high price. The balance would move into foreign markets at whatever prices they would bring.

All three of these plans are expected to be pushed by sponsors during the present Congress.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson made the administration's position clear on these issues at a news conference Thursday. He declined, however, to elaborate on any proposals the administration may lay before Congress for aid of farmers.

He said a payment plan to bolster farm income could not be justified. He said a food stamp plan was not needed because of the high level of consumer buying power and the existence of a program under which surplus foods are made available to those on relief.

Benson reiterated opposition to the farm payment idea just as President James G. Patton of the National Farmers Union was urging its adoption by Congress to give farmers a fair income.

"It has been evident far too long that the administration's only policy—trying to raise income by lowering prices—is a grim failure," said Patton.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Weather Bureau reports that the winter wheat crop in some areas of the southern Great Plains continues to need moisture for proper development.

The bureau says surface soil moisture supplies are short in much of New Mexico, western Texas and most of Oklahoma. Some dryness also was reported in Nebraska.

The outlook for the crop was said to be considerably less favorable than was the case a year ago when the 1953 record crop was making excellent progress.

Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Andrews, Springfield, Mo.

The Rev. George R. Lamb read the vows under an archway placed in front of a white altar, decorated with baskets of white gladioli and pompons, and flanked on either side by eight-branch candelabra holding burning tapers.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Evelyn Conner, sister of the bride, Carson, Ia., sang "Always," "O Promise Me" and "Wedding Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Christine Smith, Springfield, organist, who played "Because," "At Dawning" and "Melody of Love."

Brothers of the groom, Bob Andrews and Don Andrews, both of Springfield, lighted the candles and also served as ushers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor length gown of imported Chantilly lace over layers of white taffeta. The lace bodice, featuring a Sabrina neckline and covered with seed pearls and sequins, was fastened down the back with covered buttons. The long sleeves tapered to points over the hands.

Her headdress was a crown of sequins and pearls and held her veil of illusion. She carried a white orchid surrounded by red roses atop a white Bible, draped with streamers. The Bible was a gift of her grandmother, Mrs. George Lamb.

Maid of honor was Miss Karen Williams, sister of the bride, Warsaw, who wore a dress of powder blue brocade taffeta, with white velvet headdress and she carried white carnations tied with satin streamers.

For the wedding, the mother of the bride chose a suit of blue-gray with pink accessories and the mother of the groom chose a green dress with beige accessories. Each wore an orchid corsage.

Approximately 40 guests attended the reception held following the ceremony in the Bethany Room CBI, Springfield. A lace table cloth covered the dining table, centered with a four-tiered cake topped with miniature bride and groom and surrounded by white pompons and red roses, flanked with candles.

Serving the guests were Mrs. Norma Jean Barnett and Mrs. Connie Andrews, both of Springfield and Mrs. Evelyn Conner, Carson, Ia. Presiding at the guest book was Mrs. Faith Williams, Kansas City, Kan., sister-in-law of the bride.

The couple left for a short wedding trip to the Lake of the Ozarks. For traveling, the bride wore a brown wool suit with beige accessories and the white orchid from the bridal bouquet.

SPRING 1959

We should all feel as though we were getting ready for a special occasion when we go shopping for our spring wardrobe this season. First of all the styles are all definitely wearable for the first time in several seasons. Secondly, husbands are so pleased that the styles are back to normal, wardrobe budgets will probably be increased. To top these things the styles are refreshing; all colors are being shown in some hue and the accessories are exciting and feminine. May I suggest you do what I did this past week, go through last year's wardrobe and see what is there for you this season and for what occasions it will do. Jot down any accessories you have that are usable — then discard completely what you can't use. Then make a list of basic outfits you need such as a suit, coat, dresses and separates. After this is done check the amount you plan to spend and select the things you need the most, first and then fill in as you go. In this manner you will be able to build a new wearable wardrobe and be happy each time you look at yourself. Remember too, your hair, make-up and jewelry should be considered in this new splurge for spring.

For the awkwardly placed high window, a characteristic of many builders' houses today, a border of print fabric pasted on both sides and at the top would make a pleasant "frame" for simple full white curtains. Use the same print fabric for covering a small chair or for skirt for bed if decorating a bedroom in this manner.

Gifts of money were also presented by Miss Nancy Jane Rohrbach, a great niece of Mrs. Wilson's, from relatives. The money was to be used to purchase a daron lace table cloth. The California Chapter 521 presented her an electric coffee maker, this presentation being made by Miss Lillian Allen. Other gifts from friends were presented by Mrs. Mildred Papan.

Will Present Hula Portrayal At Music Club

Helen "Mahealani" Williams will present an enlightened portrayal of the Ancient and Modern Hula at the Annual Club Supper of The Helen G. Steele Music Club on Wednesday, Jan. 21, at the Heard Memorial Club House. Husbands of members will be special guests.

The lecture-dance, with distinctive Hawaiian Music depicts the beauty and fascination, the history and development of the Hula from the religious chants. Usually misrepresented as suggestive and sensuous, the Hula is proved to be a worthy form of the artistic dance.

A wide variety of dance interpretations, with beautiful, authentic costumes, enchanting music recorded in Hawaii, includes the use of native instruments, the ipu (gourd), uli uli (feathered gourd), pu'ili (bamboo rattles), ili ili (Hawaiian stone castanets). Smoothly given narration reveals the culture and history of the Islands, expressed with joy and sincerity through the hulas.

Helen "Mahealani" Williams a charming and talented dancer and musician, has made an extensive study of the history, culture and art forms of the Hawaiian people. Because of her dancing background, she found the Hulas particularly fascinating and set out to master these unique and lovely dances by living a number of years in Hawaii.

Today she can perform 15 Hulas, ranging from ancient religious rites to joyous modern dances.

Beginning her musical career at the age of five, Helen Williams studied piano, voice and dance at the University of Kansas. Later she took advanced ballet study in New York City, and appeared as dance soloist and singer in many Broadway shows. She is an accomplished pianist, and an active leader in civic and musical circles.

Her Hawaiian name, "Mahealani", means: On observing the waning of the moon, one is grateful that it has been full.

The program to be presented before the Music Club will be the same program she gave in Carnegie Hall, New York City.

The hour for the supper is 6:30 and the program at 8. Mrs. Edwin Forrest Yancey, Life President, will preside with Mrs. William Hopkins acting as chairman for the day.

Anyone wishing to make reservations for the supper are asked to call Mrs. John Petty Ta. 6-3694.

Bread on the Waters Returns Thousandfold

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The bread Harvard figuratively cast on the waters many years ago has been returned much more than a thousand-fold.

President Nathan M. Pusey disclosed Friday that a former student, who went through Harvard courses on scholarships had left the university two million dollars.

The donor insisted on anonymity. The gift brought to 55 million dollars funds for scholarships for needy students.

The layoffs came as a result of an Air Force decision to cut production rates of the F101B Voodoo fighter.

The layoff brought the number of employees to 25,800.

Businessmen Say Consumer Is Best Hope For Recovery

NEW YORK (AP) — Businessmen turned to the consumer this week as the best hope for recovery in 1959.

His wants, his needs, his hidden urges and his bank account came under exhaustive study.

Five thousand retail executives attending the 48th annual convention of the National Retail Merchants Assn., in New York were told that prosperity now depends as never before on an upsurge in consumer buying.

The outlook, as envisioned by the retailers: A small rise in retail sales this year, probably about four per cent, with an explosive increase of boom proportions in the cards for 1960.

From other quarters came a warning that there will be no such explosive boom unless industry comes up with more stimulating new ideas and more new products.

Addressing an economic conference in Philadelphia, Stahl Edmunds, Ford Motor Co., economist, declared: "the boom of 1946 to 1958 was built upon all the accumulated innovations generated in the 15 years from 1930 to 1945. Today we have no backlog of ideas to draw upon. We must propel the next business cycle by our own efforts. It will be a 'think-as-you-go' boom if there is to be any boom at all."

While management strove to create new consumer wants, the nation's comeback from recession showed further signs of slowing down.

Unemployment in December bounced back past the four-million mark. Personal income slipped back from November's record high, chiefly because many companies reduced or skipped their year-end dividends to stockholders.

Industrial production as measured by the Federal Reserve Board moved up one percentage point, compared with a jump of three points in November. The December index — 142 per cent of the 1947-49 average — compared with a record peak of 146 in December 1956 and a recession low of 126 last April.

Homebuilding made a good showing. Foundations for 91,000 dwelling units were poured—the highest December total on record.

Auto and steel production moved up another notch this week. The nation's auto factories rolled out 135,000 passenger cars — 24 per cent more than in the same week last year.

Stock sales totaled 21,015,000 shares during the week compared to 20,337,601 shares in the previous week and 12,997,605 shares in the corresponding week a year ago.

Bond sales had a par value of $38,405,000 in the latest week against $37,986,500 for the previous week and $25,613,000 for the same 1958 week.

Briefly over the business scene: Steel production in the nation this week totaled 2,123,000 tons — highest since mid-1927. Electric power output in the week ended Jan. 10 set an all-time record. Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, feted by Wall Street bankers and Manhattan businessmen, predicted an 80 per cent boost in Russia's production in the next seven years with consumer goods showing the biggest increase.

President Eisenhower, predicting a surplus in the federal budget in the next fiscal year, ruled out an across-the-board cut in individual income taxes. The American Newspaper Publishers Assn., issued a report showing that the recent New York newspaper strike last month caused a total business loss of 50 million dollars. Texas authorities ordered an increase of 31.971 barrels a day in the state's allowable oil production in February. Ford Motor Co. is reentering the auto financing field. In recent years financing of Ford cars had been handled by outside firms, notably C.I.T. Financial Corp. Fred Lazarus Jr., chairman of Federated Department Stores, received the 1959 gold medal award of the National Retail Merchants Assn.

Most of the injured suffered only cuts and bruises. None were believed in critical condition.

Child Calls Police After Mother's Death

MILWAUKEE (AP) — "Get help — mommy doesn't answer me," a childish voice pleaded Friday.

A telephone operator checked the source of the call and sent police to the William Wickert home where officers met two boys, William, 7, and Daniel, 4.

William, who had made the call, explained his mother had gone shopping and on her return said, "Hi," and fell down.

Officers found Mrs. Lorraine Wickert, 27, face down on the living room, a bag of groceries on a footstool beside her.

A medical examiner's post-mortem revealed she died of a rheumatic heart condition she had had for several years.

Miss Loma Embry and Thomas E. Paul, both of Sedalia, were married Friday, Jan. 16, at half after ten in the morning, at the home of the Rev. Carl Opp, 1216 East 16th, with the Rev. Opp officiating.

Collars Get Two Extreme Receptions

ROME (AP) — A trend toward abolishing collars in spring and summer styles has showed up in Rome fashion shows. But one holdout is going to the other extreme.

Vast white collars were shown Friday night by designer Barbara.

She presented her collection, featuring the big collars and arched hips, at the end of the second day of Rome showings. The collection took its theme from the form and structure of a leaf, and its color from the lush South Sea island paintings of Gauguin.

A unique feature of the Barbara collection was its relatively low price list. No dress carried a tag of more than $100.

The collar emphasis was an exception to a developing trend.

Jackets and coats by Luciani were collarless. His dresses were, too. Antonio de Luca, inspired by Japan's cut and containment, did away with collars as well as collars. Sometimes he went so far as to banish sleeves.

Luciani's jackets also were slope-shouldered, loose and short. Occasionally they were shorter in front.

His dresses had unadorned tops, angular hips and waists. While outlined at their normal position, the waists were frequently built-up like a corselet. His strapless gowns also were often built up about two inches higher than the usual strapless line from armpit to armpit.

De Luca adopted high-bustled Oriental cummerbunds. He also made use of the kimono-cut bodice and mandarin collars.

One silk afternoon-dress was of pale lilac, with a full-length panel of box-pleats in front and in back. It bloused slightly above the tight, wide belt which bound it.

Its décolleté was a long slot just too narrow for shoulders to pass through.

Concluding the collection on an unexpected note, De Luca showed several delicately transparent gowns in sumptuous materials. They looked like elaborate evening skirts which had been pulled up over the bust.

The Rome showings continue to day and Sunday. Then the fashion scene shifts to Florence.

Missourians Elected To Coal Group Posts

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Charles L. Pratt of St. Louis was elected president of the Missouri Bituminous Contractors Assn. Friday at the annual board meeting.

Grant West of Kansas City was named vice president and James Lyndon of Kansas City, treasurer. John Britton of Jefferson City, was re-elected executive secretary.

The group endorsed Gov. James T. Blair's proposal to raise the state gasoline tax to finance road building.

Let's Talk Gardening

Winter Ideally Suited For Planning Spring Gardens

By Mrs. P. L. Strole
President, Garden Club Council

In the beginning of the New Year, we have new hopes and new aims. There are the new seed and plant catalogues coming into our homes and this month is ideally suited to the study of these fascinating catalogues, which is relished as much by the experienced as by the novice gardeners and whether your hobby be vegetables, flowers, roses, house plants or trees and shrubs, the sooner the orders are made, particularly for the new introductions, the better. We might even have time to read a good book on gardening and be dreaming and planning for the days ahead and the promise of better things to come.

Garden planning is perhaps the most profitable phase of garden activity now. Study your property and visualize the changes or ideas of development, then the most important, get that picture into a tangible form on paper, by making a definite plan, for it is possible to save hours of work and eliminate many costly mistakes.

The garden that is well organized and planned, and relies more heavily on a sense of design and pattern, where proportion, balance, line and enclosure have been planned for becomes a thing of joy for the entire year.

In planning the home grounds, try to create a unity between house and yard, you might begin at the curb line on the street and make a careful survey of all existing materials, then plan the changes necessary to develop them in a natural way. In developing the plan, think of the useful aspects of the various elements first, and make your plan around them, then plan the embellishments that will add beauty.

District Manager Of Victory Life Attends Meeting

Lawrence Ward, district manager of the Victory Life Insurance Co. in Sedalia for the past 12 years, attended the annual company meeting at the home office in Topeka, Kan., Jan. 5-6.

During the two-day meeting, it was brought out that the company has more than doubled its new business in the past ten years. W. J. (Bill) Bryden, Jr., Victory president, and officers of the firm were hosts to 26 managers from eight different states. Plans for the coming year were outlined.

Ward said that Victory Life and a subsidiary company, the Jackson Life Insurance Co., with offices in Memphis, Tenn., now have in excess of 200 million dollars of life insurance in force—Victory with 163 million at the end of 1958, and Jackson with 39 million. In 1948, Jackson had 84 million dollars of insurance in force.

Victory acquired 100 per cent of the stock of Jackson Life in 1957, and it is operated by Victory officers as a separate firm.

The district managers discussed new proposals they believe will increase sales. The recommendations will be presented to company officials for consideration.

Ward maintains offices in the Gordon Building.

St. Clair County Is Broke Again

BELLEVEILLE, Ill. (AP) — St. Clair County is broke again.

Officials met a $40,000 payroll of 200 county employees Friday and then declared the county was out of funds.

Last year the county didn't run out of money until the middle of February.

Officials said creditors will have to accept credit money until tax revenues and other income sources produce in December.

Area banks have loaned the county $400,000 but said they cannot legally lend the county any more cash.

Doctors Give Political Warhorse Good News

BOSTON, Mass. (AP) — Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. (R-Mass) veteran political warhorse, says his doctors have given him cheering news.

"They said my condition is very satisfactory," he said Friday, "much better and practically I'm on the road to recovery. I won't have to go back to the doctor for another six months."

Martin suffered a blood clot in his right leg at the end of the last session of Congress.

In First State Basement

Square Dance Course For Beginners Begins Tuesday

A series of western style square dance lessons for beginners will be given starting Tuesday evening, Jan. 20, in the basement of the First State Savings Association at Third and Osage. These lessons will be given free of charge and will be conducted and sponsored by Herb Winebrenner and Damon Hieronymus, local square dance callers. The lessons will be held every Tuesday evening and will cover all the basic steps and calls. This series of lessons is being given in order to give more people in this area the opportunity to learn western style square dancing.

During the centennial celebration next year, a large square dance festival is planned and dancers who start lessons now will be able to help and enjoy this activity. Western style square dancing throughout the nation has continued to grow and now has an accepted place in community recreation programs.

Sedalia has brought many of the nation's top square dance callers here for dances through the sponsorship of the Sedalia Square

Dance Association and the square dance clubs, and many opportunities to participate in the dancing program are offered in Sedalia as well as in the surrounding area. Those persons interested in learning to square dance are invited to come to the class which starts Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. at the First State Savings Association basement.

Black Eye For Pettis

Pettis county is one of the few of Missouri's 114 counties that must face the humiliating revelation of a discreditable highway accident report for 1958.

During that period there were 30 more accidents compared with 1957; 1 more person killed and 16 more injured within its borders despite the new state speed law and stricter enforcement. The only creditable Pettis showing was the decrease of $14,633 in property damage.

This shrouds the state-wide performance of a decrease of 31 highway fatalities under 1957; 924 fewer accidents; 500 fewer injured; and $707,561 less property damage.

Furthermore in the seven counties surrounding Pettis the losses were so much less than the poor record of our own area that the eight-county totals were all on the improvement side: 165 fewer accidents, 20 fewer killed, 136 fewer injured and $227,945 less property damage. The only other bad marks were against Johnson with two more killed and Benton with 19 more injured.

The figures for Pettis county do not reflect anything to be proud of, but they do suggest a reappraisal by every motorist of his or her own contribution to the daily necessity for more safety consciousness and performance on our highways. Certainly all the blame cannot be cast upon the shoulders of Pettis countians because the accidents were not all their fault. Travelers from elsewhere were partly to blame in the same manner our own people may have caused accidents in other counties.

Nevertheless, whether by force of circumstances or not, the record for Pettis in 1958 was discreditable.

Even though Missouri as a whole lessened its highway fatality and accident totals it was only fifth in effectiveness in efforts of midwestern states to reduce the toll.

The most effective was Iowa's new point system of driver's license suspension. Highway fatalities there dropped from 690 to 596 or a reduction of 13.6 per cent.

Second was Illinois where a beefed up patrol force and a new speed law registered a decline of 11% in fatalities.

Third was Kansas with a 6 per cent decline, and Oklahoma fourth with a 5.8 per cent reduction.

In all these states more emphasis was and is being placed on strict and impartial enforcement of laws designed to protect motorists. Missouri would probably make better strides in this program if the legislature would enact a new point system similar to Iowa's, Connecticut's and other states and implement the laws it has with an expanded Missouri Highway Patrol. There are too few of these men to patrol our Missouri highways, even though a start has been made to increase their number from 355 to 455 men.

Let's hope Missouri and surely and necessarily Pettis county make a better showing in 1959 than was registered in 1958 in highway safety performance.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Mikoyan's Most Receptive Hosts

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Wisecracks in the diplomatic corps are that the un-American activities committee should investigate the manner in which Anastas Mikoyan won over some of the staunchest big business supporters of President Eisenhower.

They point out that the No. 2 man of Soviet Russia spoke in such inner sanctums of American big business as the Union Club of Cleveland, the Detroit Club, the Chicago Club, and Wall Street, which certainly looked down the nose at and might even have banned Franklin Roosevelt and Harry Truman.

Mikoyan's hosts included Ed Ryerson, chairman of Inland Steel, one of the biggest big businessmen in Chicago, whom Eisenhower appointed to study foreign aid; Walter Ciesler, head of Detroit Edison, once a member of SHAEF under Ike; and Cyrus Eaton, head of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad and one of the bigger investment bankers of the Midwest. They, together with Henry Ford and others, all seemed impressed with Mikoyan's sincerity, his frankness, his desire for peace.

In Cleveland, James Lincoln, head of the Lincoln Electric Company, greeted Mikoyan at the Union Club with this amazing speech:

"The thing we need in this country is to have more and more exchanges of visitors, exchange of goods, exchange of ideas. . . . We say they are 'Communists,' and yet we are going at a tremendously rapid speed. There is also every indication that the Communists are going toward capitalism, at least to some extent. . . . Before long, argument between the two ideas will be much closer than anything we have seen before."

Johnson Lectures
Of the new Democrats, Sens. Phil Hart of Michigan and Frank Moss of Utah have been the most stubborn about taking orders from Senate Leader Lyndon Johnson. This led the redoubtable Lyndon the other day to deliver a gentle but pointed warning.

Spying the Michigan freshman at a reception, Lyndon cornered him and said sweetly:

"Let me tell you a little story. When Sam Rayburn first came to Congress, the speaker told him: 'Young man, you vote against the leadership whenever your conscience or the interests of your state require it. But don't do it very often and don't do it on anything important.'"

Hart replied that he understood the moral of Johnson's little story, but added: "Don't count on me."

Poor Safety Precautions

European newspapers, especially the British, were horrified at the slipshod security provided for Mikoyan in Chicago and San Francisco. There was much more comment in the West European press than in the American press regarding hostile pickets and what could happen in case one of them got out of hand.

Suspicion persisted among some of those who entertained Mikoyan that the State Department may have wanted him to come into close contact with Hungarian refugees in order to realize that one segment of the American public was very much against him.

In Cleveland, Cyrus Eaton urged State Department security officers to take the Russian deputy premier through a side door of the Union Club; also take him out any one of several exits from Eaton's offices. However, State Department guards insisted on escorting Mikoyan through previously scheduled exits and entrances even though hostile crowds were waiting for him.

In San Francisco and Chicago, it's customary to take a distinguished visitor to the National Guard hangars where the crowds are easily controlled, rather than to the main airport where thousands of passengers come and go. However, for some unexplained reason, Mikoyan was escorted to the main airport, right into the teeth of shouting hostile crowds of refugees.

What European diplomats worried about was that if the No. 2 man of Russia had been killed or hurt Soviet-American relations would have reached the breaking point, especially in view of the loose security. After all, it was the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria-Hungary while on a visit to Sarajevo in 1914 which precipitated World War I.

Historic Agreement

When Deputy Premier Mikoyan came away from his first conference with John Foster Dulles, he confided to diplomats that he was impressed with the secretary's friendly frame of mind and his desire to meet Russia halfway.

What Mikoyan seems to have in mind as the real reason for his trip is an easing of the Berlin crisis and a start toward disarmament.

An agreement between the U.S.A. and USSR on stopping atomic tests now appears just around the corner. Russia does not agree that underground tests would be as hard to detect as some of the American experts claim. Russia also wants the agreement to extend for more than one year.

On other matters the two countries are so close together that a historic agreement on the ending of atomic-hydrogen tests could be announced momentarily.

Pensions In Congress

The Congressional retirement system is now 12 years old and is paying out $532,608 a year to 114 former lawmakers.

The bill will go up in 1959 when eligible senators and representatives who retired or were defeated will be added to the list. The average monthly pension payment was $389. To qualify for this, retired lawmakers had to contribute 7½ per cent of their annual salary to the pension plan for a stated period of time.

To draw a pension, a Congressman must have served at least five years and have reached the age of 62.

The pension system was first adopted in 1946 as part of the Legislative Reorganization Act, and since 1947 pensions have been received by a total of 170 retired lawmakers. Of this number 36 have been dropped by death, subsequent reelection or employment in other Federal positions.

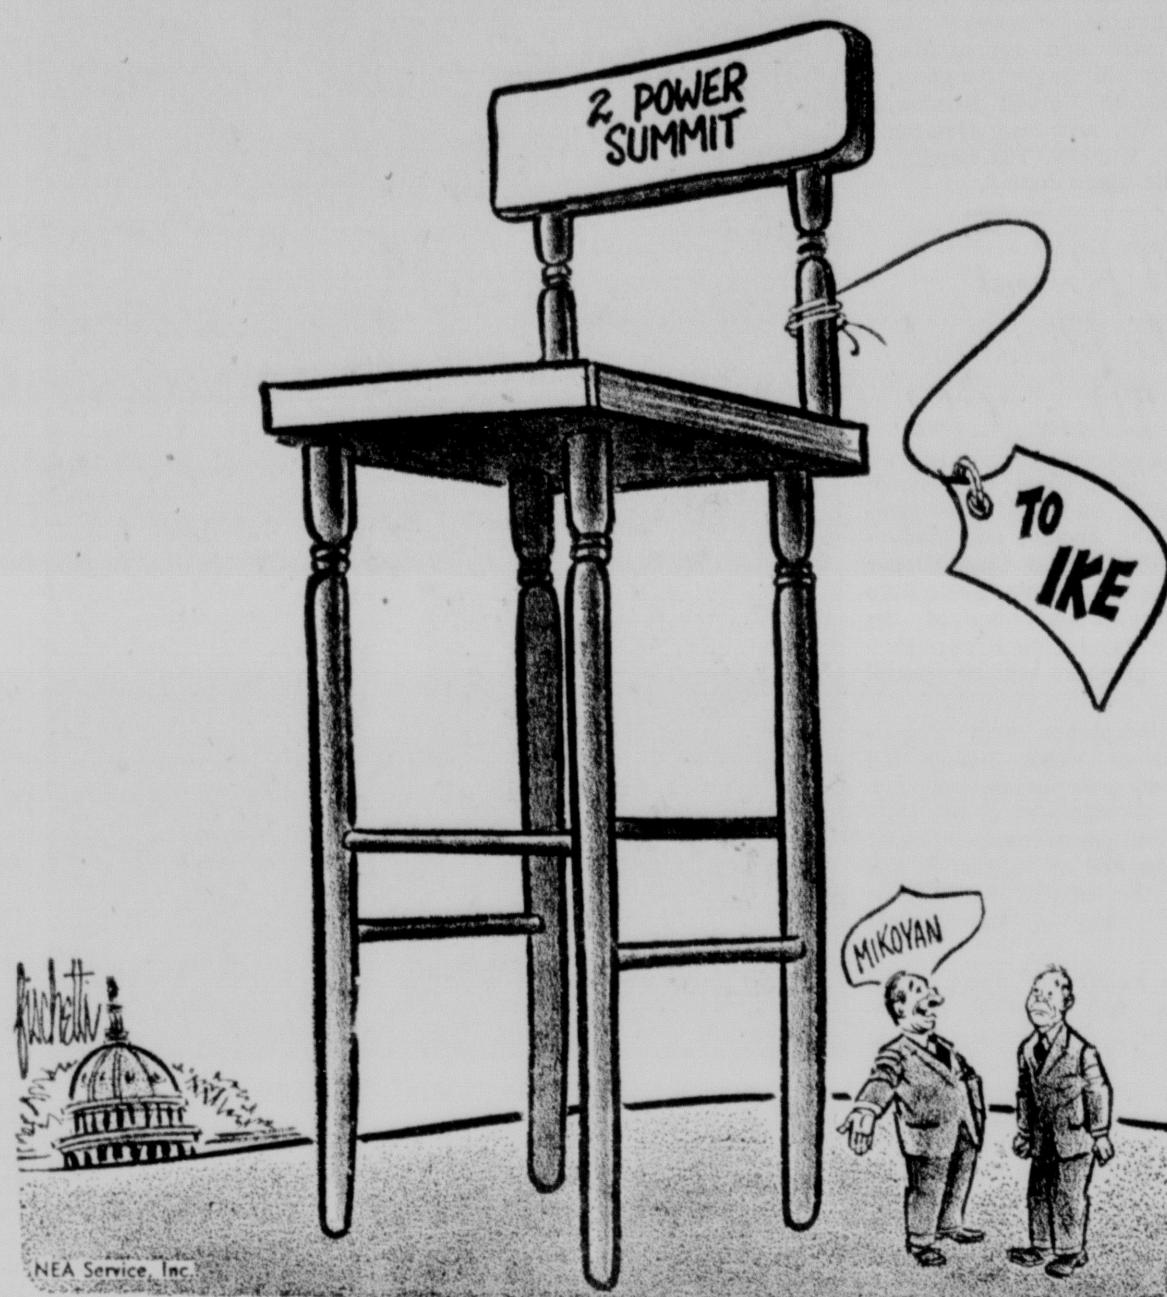

Most of the members of Congress participate in the pension plan and hence profit by the monthly payments.

What Have I Done?

Oh, what, today, dear Lord, dear Lord,
Have I done worthy to record?
Have I, here in my busy day,
Left one kind word along the way?
Have I fulfilled my daily task
As well as anyone could ask?
Have I, with interest, listened to
The things that other people do?
Have I willingly I done my share?
In everything have I been fair?
Have I erased now from my mind
All thoughts that really are unkind
And blotted out so none can see
The hurt somebody gave to me?
Have I helped today anyone
Or feel I've earned the praise, "well done,"
And am I truly satisfied
That through the day I've really tried?
Did I try to cooperate
Or have I tried to dominate?
Have I judged others whom I see
Without first checking up on me?
Have I been patient and sincere,
Forgotten gossip that I hear?
When others brag so as they chat,
Do I, too, give myself a pat?
The day is closing, now I look
At what I should put in my book
And wonder if I'm being fair
In things that I am listing there.
Am I quite certain I reflect
The kind of person I respect,
Or in me do I vainly see
Not what I am, but want to be?
Have I done anything, dear Lord
That you think worthy to record?

When Congress Intrudes On President's Prerogatives

By Joseph A. Dear
Of Our Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON—The "mandate" Senate majority leader Lyndon Johnson thinks his party has is an impossibility.

In his own "state of the union" message, delivered when Congress reconvened, Johnson said Democrats must assume constructive leadership "now" because the Administration has shown a "deficit of vigor."

In short, Johnson wants Congress to double in brass. He would have the Congress performing functions of the Executive Department.

That the Congress cannot do. The American system of government provides for administration by the President, and legislation by the Congress.

Congress can't run the Pentagon. It can't run the State Department. Congress can influence defense policy and foreign policy. But the execution of policy is the President's province. And when Congress intrudes, a mess usually results.

The threat of Congressional invasion of the President's area is always present, even when the President's party enjoys a congressional majority. The threat is increased when the party of the President is outnumbered on Capitol Hill, which is the situation today.

Last year Congress boosted appropriations for defense. President Eisenhower refused to spend the extra funds. In a general way, that refusal illustrates the ease with which the President can resist an invasion of his special preserve.

The President's austerity budget has alarmed many Democrats. The level of defense spending proposed by the President is a source of particular concern. To many senators and congressmen, it appears dangerously low.

Congress this year may appropriate more money for defense than the President will ask for. But that doesn't mean the extra money will be spent. The President could refuse this year as he did last, and indeed as ex-President Harry Truman once did.

Out in the Pentagon many military men are saying the Democrats could really put the Administration on the spot by accepting the proposed budget. The uniformed services assume the administration will have to request supplementary appropriations if the Democrats aren't kind enough to anticipate the request.

The military men may be in for a surprise. The President may find it necessary to request a few additional dollars for defense. But the word from the White House is that he has hopes of holding level.

Published reports of a deep split in the cabinet about the austerity budget are just plain nonsense, according to one cabinet member. He says the President's official family is in agreement on the budget issue. Everyone sides with the President.

The budget, of course, is always a political issue. And the Republicans figure the Democrats will be laying themselves open to charges of political irresponsibility if they demand more spending. But to the President's "team," the austerity budget is not merely sound politics. It's sound policy.

The Democrats figure spending more to improve our military posture would be popular politically. But for most of them, more than politics is involved. There is in addition a deep sense of concern for the safety of the nation.

Dr. Jordan Says

Protein Is The Basic Food Which Makes Life Possible

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

The proteins differ from the fats and the starches in that they contain nitrogen in varying amounts.

Nitrogen is necessary for life. Although nitrogen makes up about three-fourths of the air we breathe, this nitrogen is merely breathed in and out with the air and cannot be used by the body. It must be obtained from food in order to be used.

Some of the many kinds of proteins are extremely complex. They are made up of varying numbers and combinations of the 22 known amino acids, which are sometimes called the building blocks of proteins.

An insufficient protein diet over a long period of time leads to improper distribution of water in the body. This causes the development of dropsy, or edema, in which water accumulates in the body tissue.

A wasting of tissue also occurs. There is a decline in the ability of the body to produce heat.

Protein deficiency may follow some illness which does not allow the food to pass to the digestive tract and be absorbed there. Loss of appetite is a common cause — or sometimes a sign — of insufficient protein in the food.

In most illnesses in which there is fever, an excessive breakdown of the body protein occurs. The production of hemoglobin, which is the coloring matter of the blood depends largely on the amount and quality of the protein in the diet.

Thus anemia is another sign which develops either when there is insufficient protein in the diet or when it is poorly absorbed by the body.

Probably the best sources of protein for the human body are the animal proteins such as meat, eggs, fish and cheese. These are usually considered of greater value than the proteins of plant origin which are contained in cereals, nuts and certain vegetables.

However, cost and availability have to be considered. Animal proteins are obtained only by feeding large quantities of plants to animals. Consequently, the cost of animal proteins is high. Fish and other protein-containing sea foods, however, are in a class by themselves.

Obviously, many people have to obtain their proteins from plants rather than from animals or fish. No matter how you get them, protein foods are needed by the human body.

Glorification of Child May Lead to Nightmare Life

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

When I knew her she'd just divorced her husband. At first you were charmed by her good looks, her flawless grooming. Then you began to note that she couldn't sit in your living room without recommending new furniture arrangements.

If you mentioned your family, she felt at once obliged to remind you that her grandfather had been a British general. If you spoke of religion, you immediately learned that hers was better than yours because it studied all religions. When her alimony was late, she'd say intensely of her son, "I always tell Eddie I'm his only real friend."

And so those occasions when she wasn't letting you know that her background and tastes were superior to yours, she expounded endlessly on Eddie's superior brains, wit and prospects.

So when Eddie got bounced out of prep school for insubordination, she said, "He just couldn't take the type of boys he was forced to associate with."

Her need to glorify herself was so compelling that Eddie was spared all contact with reality.

Recently, a mutual acquaintance met Eddie stumbling out of a cheap bar, a shabby, middle-aged man lost in the alcoholic daze he obviously needs to tranquilize the pain of many other humiliations and restore his mother's image of his goodness.

I have a letter from a mother who may be in danger of strait-jacketing her child in another kind of parent-glorifying image.

She writes, "Last year in a school play my 13-year-old girl acted the lead so brilliantly that our local paper mentioned her. This year she's been given one line to speak in another play. I've advised her to turn it down. Don't you agree that this is the self-respecting thing for her to do?"

No, I just think it's a self-glorifying thing for her mother to tell her to do.

Your daughter's school, madam, has faced you with the possibility that her dramatic talent is ordinary, not superior. Why is this so objectionable to you? Why can't you just let your daughter twinkle modestly in her school play instead of blazing above everybody else?

Why is your child only self-respecting when she demonstrates her superiority to other people's children?

ATLANTA CONSTITUTION: When Worry Is Advisable.—Have we gone too far with the "Don't Worry" philosophy?

A couple of Yale psychiatrists think so. They say it is all right to use tranquilizers to relieve genuine mental depression.

But they warn: Don't give the pills for legitimate worry and grief. They say a world devoid of legitimate anxiety and genuine grief would be unthinkable.

In other words, there are times it pays to worry, as when the bathtub is running over, or the house is on fire. Taking a tranquilizer won't help.

Says Screen Love-making Is Vulgar

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — The man who made one of the screen's all-time great love stories calls modern movie lovemaking vulgar.
"It's embarrassing to watch," says Director Frank Borzage, who made "Seventh Heaven" with Charles Farrell and Janet Gaynor in 1927, a picture that won the first Oscars ever awarded an actress and a director.
"Lovemaking on the screen used to be tender and sweet," says Borzage. "It was left to the audience's imagination what was taking place."
"Now nothing is left to the imagination. Kissing is more gum chewing now than lovemaking."
Borzage says lovemaking hasn't changed much through the centuries — except on the screen.
"Most boys and girls are still shy and sweet about it like they always were. It should never be coarse nor sordid."
Borzage didn't bring it up but a remake of one of his old pictures serves as a perfect example.
Frank made the first "Farewell to Arms" with Gary Cooper and Helen Hayes. It was an artistic and commercial success.
In the original "Farewell," censors cut out a scene from the script in which Cooper seduces Miss Hayes while the Italian troops march off in the distance. Borzage convinced the censors that he could portray the scene in good taste.
"I did it all with their eyes," he recalls. "The censors passed the film scene. The audience knew what was happening but was not offended."
In the recent remake, the illicit angles of the Hemingway story were stressed. One scene showed Miss Jones going through the pangs of childbirth. The scene was so realistic that several persons, including actress Audrey Hepburn, fainted at the premier. Yet the picture was far from being the commercial success its predecessor was.
Borzage, inactive much of the last few years, is making one of the biggest pictures of his career now. It's the late Loyd C. Douglas' last novel "The Big Fisherman," a story of St. Peter.

Susan Prefers The Life Of A Landowner

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Despite Susan Hayward's current success, she still prefers the life of a Georgia landowner to that of an actress.
Mrs. Eaton Chalkley of Carrollton, Ga., is here to make another movie, "The Snow Birch," but she seems impatient to get back home for the spring planting.
"This is the first of six pictures I still have to do for 20th Century-Fox," she remarked. "The thought of having to do five more staggers me. I hope we can work something out so I don't have to."
The redhead from Brooklyn is not now with her electric performance in "I Want to Live." When I mentioned that she is the leader in the Oscar derby, she replied, "What can I say to that but 'no comment'?"
But she was pleased that "I Want to Live" is making money. No wonder. She owns 37½ per cent of it. It's the second profit-sharing deal she has made. The first was "Top Secret Affair," a comedy with Kirk Douglas which appears to have remained a secret from the public.
She gives all the credit for the success of "I Want to Live" to producer Walter Wanger. Said she: "He had faith in the story when no one else did."
Robert Montgomery Jr. is the latest of famous second-generation names to try for an acting career. He has a one-line role in "Say One for Me" and is trying out for a contract at 20th. He's doing so without his pa's encouragement.
"My father advised me to try something else because acting is so precarious," says Bob, who is 22, handsome and an Army veteran.
And he's sticking with his name despite advice to change it. "I'm too proud of it," he says. "Besides, I don't look anything like my father."

Future Wars Will Be Fought In Shadows of Nuclear Death

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer

By 1970, war will be a fluid, lethal game of hide and seek, fought mostly at night under the ever-present shadow of nuclear death.

Men will roam the countryside in small, nearly isolated bands—searching out an enemy hidden by darkness and terrain.

At instant call for both sides will be torrents of nuclear fire—if they can find the targets to shoot at.

To fight this sort of war, U. S. soldiers will need eyes to see in the dark, ears to detect the most distant sounds, and a sense of touch that can penetrate the most perfect disguise.

In a group of World War II airplane hangars on the east side of Willow Run Airport, which serves nearby Detroit, a scientific team is at work fashioning such tools.

Most of the equipment which began at the project is still classified or is the part of a classified system. It can best be described by the part it will play in a war of the future.

To help the infantryman extend his senses beyond the horizon and into the dark, the project is using a variety of methods.

Since every animal radiates heat, infrared or heat detection is a prime weapon. Machines like trucks or tanks are given away by their own energy, even in the dark.

Radar, the ear that measures the echo of radio waves bouncing off distant objects, has come a long way since its first wartime applications early in World War II. Like infrared, it can help turn night into day.

Since moving things shake the earth and make noise, special devices which measure seismic or earth vibrations and sound are useful.

With all of these there are airplanes with and without pilots to carry spying devices beyond enemy lines—and television to help speed the battle picture.

Let's look at a hypothetical battle of the future to see how some of the new senses might work.

The battle area may be 500 miles around in a European country named X. Atom-armed U. S. troops, split into battle groups of a few thousand men roam the woods and the fields, tied together by purpose and by electronic threads of communication.

The commander of these battle groups is as mobile as his troops in a headquarters on wings or wheels. Since the enemy is also atom-armed, he and his troops must be constantly on the move—so as not to provide a concentrated, easy-to-hit target.

Small pilotless aircraft dart over enemy positions, taking heat or infrared pictures of the battle terrain. They can chart not only where tanks are—but where they have been, regardless of night or camouflage.

Some infrared devices can even spot flashes from enemy artillery and heat from enemy shells, so that counter fire can be directed at gun emplacements.

The individual infantryman may have special detectors which enable him to pick out men and machines moving at night many miles away by measuring the tiniest differences in temperature.

By pairing radar, infrared and photographic pictures, trained observers can get extremely clear and complete views of enemy held areas. In fact it will be hard to hide anything, including tracks.

American War Mothers To Honor Birthday

The American War Mothers met Monday on Jan. 12, at the Community Room at the First State Savings Building.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Charles Sebek, and prayer was given by the chaplain. A letter from the state president, Mrs. Herbert Thomas, stated that those eligible for membership are mothers whose sons or daughters have or are now serving in the armed forces and mothers of boys in the National Guards if the National Guards is federalized. Also, she said that the Woman's Forum at Washington, D. C. would be presided over by the War Mother of the Year.

It was decided at this meeting to invite the state president, Mrs. Thomas to visit the Sedalia organization on May 11th, this being the fifth birthday anniversary of the local American War Mothers. One member offered to bake a birthday cake.

It was voted to give $10 for the March of Dimes.

A discussion was held and plans made to hold a card party after Lent.

The business meeting closed after which a social hour was held with Mrs. James Dawson and Mrs. Roy Crouch as hostesses.

Longest time that a British Parliament can last before it has to be dissolved is five years.

He Regained Consciousness In Time to Cheat Death

By S-Sgt. William D. Hill
We've all had close calls, but few of us will come closer to death than Major Wayne J. Cowgill of Whiteman Air Force Base, and live to tell about it.

"I was falling through the air when I regained consciousness and pulled the ripcord and waited for the chute to snap open." So said the Operations Sq. commander in describing his brush with death near Stuttgart, Germany, in the closing days of WWII.

A B-24 pilot, Major Cowgill was flying a bombing mission on Munich in what he described as "pretty foul weather." Near the target flak began to pop and burst throughout the formation. In the next instant the major was falling through space.

Hitting the ground, the major said he tried to stand up but felt something dragging him back. Looking down, he discovered the pilot seat still strapped to his back.

Three of the nine-man crew escaped the ill-fated plane and the major was told later by one of his crewmen that another B-24 had evidently been hit and gone out of control. The big bomber dropped directly beneath Major Cowgill's, and the pilot, in an effort to regain his altitude, pulled up, resulting in a mid-air collision which caused both planes to explode.

"Within minutes after I hit the ground a group of civilians encircled me," the major remembers. "I had heard rumors of treatment downed crewmen had received when captured by civilians and I had no desire to fall into their hands. Three German soldiers approached and I surrendered to them."

In describing his treatment during the ten months he was held captive in Stalag Luft 1, Major Cowgill summed it up as being "better than expected." Before his capture he had flown 12 missions against Nazi targets.

During the Berlin airlift, the 38-year-old major flew approximately 120 missions and later served 33 months in the Korean Conflict as a C-119 pilot, operations officer and squadron commander.

Enlisting in the Air Force in 1942, Major Cowgill attended flying training at bases in Texas and received his wings in December 1943.

The major was assigned to Whiteman from Norton AFB, Calif., in August 1957, and was an aircraft commander in the 340th ARS before assuming command of Operations Sq. last August.

Major and Mrs. Cowgill have three children, William 15; Lori, 5; and Linda 3. They reside at 205 N. Carswell Circle on base.
